The theme of the spring pageant was "In Living Color", which was beautifully portrayed by the stage production, produced by Dan Prickett, and by the lovely candidates themselves.

The event could not be a success had it not been for the mistress of ceremonies, Miss Lorrie Janet Kapsta, who is the reigning Miss Ohio. She was the grand talent winner in the Miss America Pageant for her performance at the piano.

She performed the winning talent number during Friday's pageant.

The New Miss South Central Ohio is the 21-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Vulgamore.

She is a 1971 graduate of Piketon High School and is presently attending Rio Grande College studying to be an elementary teacher.

In evening gown competition, Miss Vulgamore wore a sleeveless aqua-colored formal with a v-neck.

In her talent competition, she played Rachmaninof's Russian Concert No. 2 on the piano.

Miss Vulgamore stated that people must "learn laughter from little children".

Miss Kathy Jaynes, first runner-up, stayed in Circleville for her first time after the pageant Friday.

The 18-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jerome Wexler, formerly of Chillicothe, is attending Eastern New Mexico University on a basketball scholarship. A 1974 graduate of Chillicothe High School, she is majoring in secondary education.

Miss Jaynes wore a white sleeveless floor-length formal with a voile covering her shoulders.

She quoted a poem "In a World of Four Walls".

For her talent, she sang a medley of "Killing Me Softly" and "Can't Take My Eyes Off You".

Circleville High School senior Barb Dowd took second runner-up honors in the pageant.

She resides at 519 Garden Parkway with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dowd.

Miss Dowd wore a long-sleeved yellow formal decorated with white collar and sleeve cuffs.

She stated, "If you know yourself, you can understand people around you."

FRANK PLESCIA

Brian J. Barr and Frank James Plescia have been named winners of the Circleville BPO Elks Scholarship Awards, it was announced today by John Fissell, chairman of the Youth committee of the local lodge.

Each boy will receive $400 to be used to pay his expenses at the college of his choice. This scholarship is a part of the Circleville Elks Lodge's youth program.

Plescia is the son of Frank A. and Nancy L. Plescia of 240 Edwards Road. A senior at Circleville High School, has maintained a 3.54 grade average during his high school years.

An excellent athlete, he has participated in track, basketball, cross country and football. In addition Plescia is a member of student council, Hi-Y and the Prom Committee.

He has received a National Merit Letter of Commendation, three scholarship awards, was All South Central Ohio in track, the top field event man on the Circleville track team and received a football player of the week award last fall.

Plescia has an older brother and sister already enrolled in college. He was a paper boy for The Herald, worked at Colonel Sanders and was a YMCA Day Camp Counselor, all with an eye toward furthering his education after graduation from high school.

He plans to enroll at either Ashland College, Bowling Green State University or Muskingum College. Plescia has always enjoyed working with people and sharing the knowledge and skills he has acquired. He hopes to become a teacher of tomorrow's youth.

Barr is the son of Ira and Jane Barr, Route 1, Circleville.

He is a senior at Logan Elm High School where he has maintained a 3.05 grade average. At Logan Elm he is a member of the choir, boys ensemble, junior and senior play casts and the prom committee.

He has been a member of the football, basketball and track teams all four years of high school and was co-captain of the football team this past year.

Barr was a delegate to Boy's State, is listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students and is an honor roll student. He was president of his class his freshman and sophomore years, president of the choir, the varsity club and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and vice president of the student council. He is a member of Salem United Methodist Church where he is active in Youth Fellowship, choir, and is Sunday school teacher of the first and second graders.

During the summer he works with his father as a painter-carpenter.

Although he has not yet decided upon a particular college, he plans to major in Elementary education and physical education. He is also seeking an athletic scholarship in football and has been contacted by several colleges.

The Elks scholarship was instituted in 1968. Ron Malone was the first winner. In addition to Malone, winners have been David Horst, Deborah Lowe, Jodi Ferguson, Denise Morrison, James Giese, Connie Sue Welsh, Jeffrey Vance Sheets, Debra Ann Krahn, Lou Ann Clark, Stephanie Lin Mesner, Tamra Ann Miller.

Members of the youth committee in addition to Fissell are Charles Steinhauer, Bill Trego and Terry Anderson.

Senate Okays Tax Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The largest tax cut in the nation's history, designed to stimulate the economy with something for literally every American taxpayer, won final approval in the Senate early today.

The $33.1 billion package of tax reductions was passed on a 60-29 vote and sent to a conference with House

Senate Panel Approves Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to give emergency aid to farmers is heading for the Senate floor amid conflicting claims about its cost to consumers.

The Senate Agriculture Committee approved the bill Friday after making only a few changes in the version passed a day earlier by the House. One change is to extend the life of the proposed legislation from one year to three years.

The Senate plans to take up the bill Monday and a vote is scheduled for Wednesday.

As approved by the committee, the bill increases support for the dairy industry beyond the increases in the House bill, raising the level of parity for dairy producers from 80 per cent to 85 per cent.

Committee Chairman Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., who represents leading cotton-producing states, also managed to increase the level of possible government support for the cotton industry.

An amendment raising the level of parity was introduced by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey. A spokesman for the Minnesota Democrat said the increase may raise the price of milk 5 cents a gallon, cheese 6 cents a pound and butter as much as 10 cents a pound within one year.

But the Agriculture Department says the higher parity level could raise the cost of a gallon of milk by more than 8 cents and increase the price of cheese by 10 cents a pound and butter 20 cents a pound.

Parity is the price level set by the department at which a farmer should be able to make a profit on his product.

Establishment of 85 per cent parity means that if the market price of the product falls below 85 per cent of the theoretical parity price, then the government begins buying up the product in order to force the market price up to the 85 per cent level.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz says he would recommend that President Ford veto the bill, as he did a measure passed last December that would have raised the parity level.

But Humphrey, persuading his colleagues on the committee to increase parity, said, "I do not like 80 per cent parity. It's an outrage. It will bankrupt our people and I didn't come here to do that. I don't give a hoot about what the secretary of agriculture says."

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., said he was opposed to a measure that would increase grocery prices.

"This legislation is a clear and simple consumer ripoff," he said.

Although the committee left most of the House bill untouched, Talmadge's recommendations on increasing the target price and loan levels of cotton were followed.

Target prices involve a government guarantee to producers that if the free market price for a commodity falls below a price set by law, the target price, the government will make up the difference to the producers. The loan level is the amount a farmer can borrow using his crop as security.

The committee decided to raise the cotton target price to 48 cents a pound, up from the 45 cents approved by the House, and increased the loan level from the House's 38 cents for each pound grown to 40 cents.

Simon Against Inward Economy

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The "beggar-thy-neighbor" policies of nations' seeking economic salvation at the expense of their allies won't be any more effective in the 1970s than in the 1930s, Treasury Secretary William Simon warned Friday.

The secretary told the Cleveland Council on World Affairs that international cooperation is needed to solve world economic and financial problems, especially those caused by quadrupled prices for oil.

"A first and fundamental challenge is to ensure that the large trading deficits created in industrial countries do not lead the world into a spiral of restrictive trade measures," he said.

members to work out a compromise with the $19.9 billion bill approved by the House.

The Senate bill would provide most families with a rebate on 1974 taxes of $120 to $240, guarantee a one-time $100 bonus to every Social Security recipient, grant a $40 reduction in 1975 taxes for virtually all individuals and provide an optional tax credit that would give additional relief mainly to families under the $20,000 income level that itemize deductions.

The package includes a $7.4 billion tax cut for business, mainly by raising the tax incentive for buying new equipment.

The $33.1 billion figure approved by the Senate at 1:40 a.m., ending an 18-hour workday, is more than double the $16.2 billion President Ford recommended.

In the view of some congressional economists, the net tax cut amounts to $29.3 billion because the bill also repeals $3.8 billion in tax breaks for corporations, mainly the large oil companies.

Many of the 29 senators who voted against the bill said they consider the total too large because of the rising budget deficits brought on by heavy federal spending in recent years and a loss of tax revenues because of the recession.

"This tax cut will not meet the needs of the economy," said Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill. "It will show America that Congress is not willing today to face up to the measures required to meet the problem."

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and floor manager of the bill, said, "The strength shown by the Senate on this bill was remarkable."

The conferees will begin work Monday on hammering out a final figure for the tax cut — a figure that Long said will be around $30.5 billion.

With Congress due to start its Easter recess late next week, the tax-cut bill is expected to be sent to President Ford on Wednesday.

In addition to the $13.2-billion difference in the price tags, the Senate bill is vastly different from the House version.

U.S. May Declare Paris Accord Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is considering a declaration that the 1973 Paris peace agreements on South Vietnam have become inoperative because of the major Communist offensive now underway there, State Department officials say.

And, these officials said Friday, it is believed that the Communist forces will try to establish their own visible South Vietnamese government in Hue, the old imperial capital, instead of following past practice of vanishing into the jungle.

Meanwhile, sharp fighting was reported on the outskirts of Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon in the central highlands. Some 1,000 government paratroopers were rushed to the area as tens of thousands of refugees streamed out in anticipation of the region's abandonment to the Communists.

The Paris peace accords established a cease-fire in South Vietnam and limited the amount of aid the United States could provide the Saigon government and the number of troops and equipment that North Vietnam could bring into the South to one-to-one replacements for what already was there.

In addition, the accords led to the exchange of war prisoners, including more than 500 American POWs held by North Vietnam and the Viet Cong, and called for an eventual vote by the people of South Vietnam on whether to reunify with North Vietnam.

All U.S. troops were withdrawn from South Vietnam as a result of the agreement.

As the State Department sources gave word of the possible declaration regarding the accords, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen reported, then retracted, that the United States had sought a reconvening of the nations that signed the agreement.

At his daily news briefing, Nessen said the United States had received no response to "an effort to reconvene signatories of the Paris peace accord."

The spokesman later said "the word reconvene was incorrect" and gave reporters copies of a previously released Jan. 11 note in which the United States told the signatories that North Vietnam was in "flagrant violation" of the accords.

Fighting also was reported fierce in South Vietnam's neighbor, Cambodia, amid word from reliable sources in Washington and Phnom Penh that Cambodian President Lon Nol will quit soon in a bid to bring peace to his nation after five years of warfare with Communist-led insurgents.

In Washington, Cambodian Ambassador Um Sim told newsmen that such reports "may be just speculation."

But he added: "Marshal Lon Nol has said it before that he would not stand, he will not block the way to peace. Whenever there are clear indications that peace can be reached, through his departure, he will not hesitate to leave."

General Manager Named At O-I Plant

Appointment of O. George Johnson as general manager of the Circleville corrugated shipping container manufacturing plant of the Forest Products Division of Owens-Illinois, Inc., has been announced by William R. Winters, vice president of the division and Northern Region manager for box operations.

O. GEORGE JOHNSON

In his new position, Mr. Johnson succeeds Dean A. Logan, who has been named general manager of the division's Bradford, Pennsylvania, corrugated shipping container manufacturing plant.

A native of Wilson, New York, Johnson joined Owens-Illinois in 1957 as an industrial engineer at the Miami, Florida, corrugated shipping container manufacturing plant and became production superintendent there in 1964. He was appointed production manager of the division's former Detroit, Michigan, plant in 1966, and since 1969 he has served in a similar position at the firm's Milan, Michigan, plant.

He entered the U.S. Army in 1951 and held the rank of first lieutenant when he was discharged in 1953. He received a bachelor of science degree in industrial engineering from the Georgia Institute of Technology in Atlanta, Georgia, in 1957. Mr. Johnson is a member of the Institute of Industrial Engineers.

Johnson is married to the former Mary Ann Childers of Savannah, Georgia, and they have two children, George Dana and Lisa Deanne.

The Circleville plant is one of 20 corrugated shipping container manufacturing plants operated by the Forest Products Division. The division is a part of the Packaging Group of O-I which includes Glass Container, Closure, and Plastic Products Divisions and Metal Can Operations. O-I also has a Consumer and Technical Products Group and an International Group.

Owens-Illinois is the 84th largest industrial firm in the nation, with 1974 sales of more than $2.1 billion. The firm has 112 plants and mills in the United States and owns or has an interest in 81 plants in 22 foreign countries. Corporate headquarters of O-I, which is listed on the New York Stock Exchange and is one of the 30 firms making up the Dow Jones Industrial Average, are in Toledo, Ohio.

The company's American-made products are exported to more than 90 countries, and worldwide employment is more than 84,000 persons.

Termite Swarming May Mean Trouble

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Termite swarming begins in March and continues for two or three months. There is little need to "panic," however, since termites are slow workers.

Keep in mind that it is the little white worker termite (immature stage), seldom seen by the homeowner, that destroys the wood, not the noticeable winged swarmer termite (adult stage). Therefore, if you find swarming termites in your home, do not panic. Take your time and consider the following steps; says William F. Lyon, Extension Entomologist at The Ohio State University.

First, be sure you actually have termites. Ants, beetles, and other insects are often mistaken for termites, he says. Keep in mind that ants have a tight, pinch-in waist; elbowed antennae; and transparent, difficult to detach wings. The four wings are unequal in size (front wings are longer than the rear wings).

Swarming termites have a wide waist, straight "bead-like" antennae, and milky-colored wings (easily detached) with the four wings of equal size. If you are not sure if the pest is an ant or a termite, get reliable, positive identification from your county extension agent, extension entomologist, or other professional authority before spending money for control measures.

Next, try to find the extent of the infestation. If you discover swarming termites, first look at nearby timbers such as those above basement walls, namely the foundation plates, sills, joist ends, studding, sub-flooring, etc. Be suspicious of any wood in contact with the soil such as porch steps, wooden cellar posts, and cellar window frames. One can jab all suspected wood with an ice pick or screw driver to determine if the wood is galled by termites. Try to determine the amount of wood damage and the location where termites are entering from the soil.

Last, determine the control needed. Depending on your appraisal of the damage and infestation, you may either contact your county extension agent for do-it-yourself control measures, or deal with a reliable pest control firm having an established place of business and a good, professional reputation. Many reputable firms belong to state and/or national pest control associations. If in doubt about a pest control firm, ask for references and get two or more competitive estimates before signing a contract.

Termite control is usually a job for a professional pest control operator, since most homeowners seldom have the training, experience, or equipment for the job.

Plants That Attract Birds

There's something enlightening about birds ushering in spring with their song and bright colored plumage ... and an occasional tug of war with an earthworm. If you don't have berry producing trees and shrubs around your home, you probably don't have birds.

To successfully attract birds, the homeowner must provide food, water, adequate shelter and suitable nesting places for them. Fruit bearing trees, shrubs and vines attract birds and provide food, shelter and nesting habitats.

P. C. Kozel and E. K. Toth of the Ohio State University Department of Horticulture have prepared a leaflet listing plants and information about each will help you as a homeowner to know what plants to use in your landscape. The leaflet, No. 234, "Plants That Attract Birds," is available through the County Extension Office. It is particularly helpful for owners of new homes who are planning to landscape this spring.

Honeybees and You

With all the vegetable gardens and fruit trees being planted in backyards, the bees will be very busy just pollinating the crops, if there's enough of them.

So, if you're not within a couple of miles of the colony's hive, your plants may not get proper pollination. Crops within a half mile radius of the hive are worked more thoroughly by a colony of bees. However, with fewer crops and nectar flow within the half mile radius, bees work farther from the hives, up to a couple of miles. In this case, you may want a bee hive of your own. Not only will you get proper pollination but also honey to substitute for sugar in your baking recipes ... and it's good on buttered toast.

Lawrence J. Connor, Extension Entomologist in Apiculture at The Ohio State University, has a new bulletin on Honeybees and You. The publication is written primarily for beginners in beekeeping. So, if you're interested in bees, ask your county extension agent for a copy of this bulletin.

Containing everything Ruff Seed will need to treat seeds with any product on the market, the S-100 package combines Gustafson's famous Mist-O-Matic line with elements of the popular slurry treaters.

Gentle enough for the most easily damaged seeds, the S-100 assures accurate application of chemical in ratios as low as 1/2 ounce per bushel. These low treatment rates allow more efficient use of chemical and lessen the danger of harmful overtreatment.

Add Up to Real Savings!

Research and field testing have produced the new Butler Grain Bin, a structure that goes up fast and can save you real money and valuable time. Here are a few of the reasons why:

The new, broader corrugation comes in wider panels which require fewer parts to provide faster, easier erection. The new roof goes together more easily, and its steeper pitch permits more grain storage capacity, which lowers your per-bushel storage cost. The new, stronger floor installs quickly and gives you a more efficient drying area. These are only the highlights. Let us tell you the complete story on the new Butler grain bin, available in a broad range of capacities up to 109,000 bushels per bin.

News For Homemakers

By BEVERLY BECHTEL
County Extension Agent
Home Economics

Could you save some clothing dollars by relining a coat? It doesn't take much sewing skill to put in a new lining in an old coat. It does take time because you must rip out the old lining before you can begin.

Carefully rip out the old lining - you'll need it for a pattern. Rip it apart so you have one front piece, one sleeve, and half a back. Take care not to tear the pieces; keep the seam allowances intact. Press the old lining pieces, keeping the crosswise and lengthwise grains at right angles to each other.

Place the lining pieces on the new lining fabric; cut using them as patterns. Usually you can fold the fabric lengthwise and cut two at a time. You might cut the center back on a fold to eliminate a seam. With or without a center back seam, allow extra fabric so you'll have enough lining to form a one-inch pleat at the center back.

There are several ways to put in a new coat lining. You might try this one: Stitch the darts, if any, and the shoulder and underarm seams. Stitch the sleeve seams and set the sleeves in the armholes.

Be sure the coat facings are smooth and in place. This may take some pressing. It's good to loosely catch stitch the facing to the fabric directly below it. Catch it to the interfacing, interlining or underlining, or lightly to the coat fabric itself.

Now, put the lining in place, beginning with the center back pleat at the neckline. Turn the front lining pieces over the back so the lining is wrong side out and you can see the shoulder seam allowances. Sew the shoulder seam allowances of the lining to the matching coat seams. A diagonal basting stitch works well, but even a row of machine stitching will do. If there is a shoulder pad between the coat and lining, sew the lining seam allowance to the underside of the pad. To keep the lining in place, attach about six inches of the lining underarm seams and as much as possible of the lining armhole seams to the matching coat seams.

Then, flip the front lining in place; put the lining sleeves into the coat. Turn under the lining edge and slip-stitch it to the coat facing on both fronts and across the back of the neck.

Put the coat on, right side out. The raw edge of the lining will extend below the coat sleeves and hem. Have someone mark the coat edges onto the lining with chalk or a row of pins.

Turn the lining sleeve edge under on the marked line; slipstitch the folded edge to the sleeve hem one inch above the sleeve edge. This makes the coat sleeve lining longer than the coat sleeve and gives needed ease.

Use this technique at the lower edge of the coat to sew the lining to the coat hem. Or hem the lining separately, make the lining 1/2 to 1 inch shorter than the marked line so it won't show below the coat.

Are you confused by dates on food, such as pull date, pack date, etc., now that we have "open dating?"

"Open dating" is any date on packaged food that can be easily read and understood by you, the shopper. What the date specifically means, and where and how it appears on the package, may vary, but the purpose of the date remains the same - to help assure that you buy and use fresh food.

The opposite of open dating is "code dating." For many years most food packages have been coded. But the reason for these codes is to provide production information that is not intended for consumer use. In some cases complicated codes - letters, numbers, symbols, or a combination of all three - have been used to indicate things like production location, the shift, ingredient information, and raw material sources. Codes might also show the production date, the last day of sale, or the suggested shelf life. The primary purpose of coding is for product identification and rotation by company personnel.

But since guides to freshness are useful to consumers, many food processors and retailers are now putting open dates on perishable and semi-perishable food. The date may be shown alpha-numerically (Oct. 15), or in numbers only (10-15 or 1015). It may or may not include the year. If it does, 1975 may be shown just as a 5.

Mrs. G. Arden is coming to Circleville and Pickaway County. She is bringing with her a garden project called Mrs. G. Arden's Green Scene. This is a project in which people 9-13 years old can put out their own garden.

The program is new this year in Pickaway County. The members get free seeds and instructions on planting them. They can pick up their seeds and project book at the 4-H and Grange Building on Saturday, March 29, at 10 a.m.

Mrs. G. Arden will be available to answer questions and give demonstrations on how to plant the seeds. The members will be visited at their homes during the summer. This way if they are having problems they can receive the help they need.

Also, the members can write to Mrs. G. Arden, Cooperative Extension Service, Box 29, Circleville, if they have questions about their project. Mrs. G. Arden will answer them either over the radio on Saturdays at 12:10, in the newspaper in the Saturday edition, or by personal letter.

If people 9-13 want to take part in this program, but cannot come to the 4-H and Grange Building on March 29, they can pick up their seeds, instructions, and project book at the Extension Office after April 1.

The members in Mrs. G. Arden will be grouped in numbers of 15. There will be three Junior Leaders who will help these members with special problems and will give them individualized instruction with their garden project.

In the way of announcements, the Stylish Stitchers 4-H club will have its first meeting on March 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Joyce Hedges. Anyone interested in joining this club should go to this meeting.

USDA Announces 1975 Ag Conservation Program

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced a 1975 Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) designed to encourage the application of enduring soil and water conservation practices on the Nation's farms.

It will be funded at the $190 million level authorized by Congress. This amount includes funds to fully finance the long-term agreements signed under the 1974 Rural Environmental Conservation Program, currently projected at about $33,750,000.

The 1975 program will offer both annual and long-term conservation agreements with farmers. It will share with farmers from 50 to 75 per cent of the cost of carrying out approved soil, water and woodland conservation practices. Under long-term agreements, cost-sharing will be scheduled over a period of from three to 10 years. The agreements will be based on conservation farm plans approved by local soil conservation districts.

The program will be administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service through its farmer-elected committee system. The Soil Conservation will provide planning and technical assistance on servicing of practices and long-term agreements. Contracts involving woodlands also will get technical aid from the Forest Service. The Extension Service will assist with educational support. All three agencies provide program development and policy overview assistance through county, state and national program development groups.

Local soil conservation districts also provide important support through assistance with long-term agreements and program development.

Details of specific practices, all designed to protect soil, water and woodland resources on a permanent basis, will be announced later.

Multinational Firms Supported

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Multinational corporations are under attack in a revival of the 1930s' selfish and protectionist attitudes, and the world's high living standards could plunge as a result, David Rockefeller says.

Speaking to the annual Cleveland World Trade Conference Thursday night, the Chase Manhattan Bank chairman and chief executive defended multinational firms as "the most important instruments in the expansion of world trade."

News For Homemakers

Could you save some clothing dollars by relining a coat? It doesn't take much sewing skill to put in a new lining in an old coat. It does take time because you must rip out the old lining before you can begin.

Carefully rip out the old lining - you'll need it for a pattern. Rip it apart so you have one front piece, one sleeve, and half a back. Take care not to tear the pieces; keep the seam allowances intact. Press the old lining pieces, keeping the crosswise and lengthwise grains at right angles to each other.

Place the lining pieces on the new lining fabric; cut using them as patterns. Usually you can fold the fabric lengthwise and cut two at a time. You might cut the center back on a fold to eliminate a seam. With or without a center back seam, allow extra fabric so you'll have enough lining to form a one-inch pleat at the center back.

There are several ways to put in a new coat lining. You might try this one: Stitch the darts, if any, and the shoulder and underarm seams. Stitch the sleeve seams and set the sleeves in the armholes.

Be sure the coat facings are smooth and in place. This may take some pressing. It's good to loosely catch stitch the facing to the fabric directly below it. Catch it to the interfacing, interlining or underlining, or lightly to the coat fabric itself.

Now, put the lining in place, beginning with the center back pleat at the neckline. Turn the front lining pieces over the back so the lining is wrong side out and you can see the shoulder seam allowances. Sew the shoulder seam allowances of the lining to the matching coat seams. A diagonal basting stitch works well, but even a row of machine stitching will do. If there is a shoulder pad between the coat and lining, sew the lining seam allowance to the underside of the pad. To keep the lining in place, attach about six inches of the lining underarm seams and as much as possible of the lining armhole seams to the matching coat seams.

Then, flip the front lining in place; put the lining sleeves into the coat. Turn under the lining edge and slipstitch it to the coat facing on both fronts and across the back of the neck.

Put the coat on, right side out. The raw edge of the lining will extend below the coat sleeves and hem. Have someone mark the coat edges onto the lining with chalk or a row of pins.

Turn the lining sleeve edge under on the marked line; slipstitch the folded edge to the sleeve hem one inch above the sleeve edge. This makes the coat sleeve lining longer than the coat sleeve and gives needed ease.

Use this technique at the lower edge of the coat to sew the lining to the coat hem. Or hem the lining separately, make the lining $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1 inch shorter than the marked line so it won't show below the coat.

Are you confused by dates on food, such as pull date, pack date, etc., now that we have "open dating?"

"Open dating" is any date on packaged food that can be easily read and understood by you, the shopper. What the date specifically means, and where and how it appears on the package, may vary, but the purpose of the date remains the same - to help assure that you buy and use fresh food.

The opposite of open dating is "code dating." For many years most food packages have been coded. But the reason for these codes is to provide production information that is not intended for consumer use. In some cases complicated codes - letters, numbers, symbols, or a combination of all three - have been used to indicate things like production location, the shift, ingredient information, and raw material sources. Codes might also show the production date, the last day of sale, or the suggested shelf life. The primary purpose of coding is for product identification and rotation by company personnel.

But since guides to freshness are useful to consumers, many food processors and retailers are now putting open dates on perishable and semi-perishable food. The date may be shown alpha-numerically (Oct. 15), or in numbers only (10-15 or 1015). It may or may not include the year. If it does, 1975 may be shown just as a 5.

Mrs. G. Arden is coming to Circleville and Pickaway County. She is bringing with her a garden project called Mrs. G. Arden's Green Scene. This is a project in which people 9-13 years old can put out their own garden.

The program is new this year in Pickaway County. The members get free seeds and instructions on planting them. They can pick up their seeds and project book at the 4-H and Grange Building on Saturday, March 29, at 10 a.m.

Mrs. G. Arden will be available to answer questions and give demonstrations on how to plant the seeds. The members will be visited at their homes during the summer. This way if they are having problems they can receive the help they need.

Also, the members can write to Mrs. G. Arden, Cooperative Extension Service, Box 29, Circleville, if they have questions about their project. Mrs. G. Arden will answer them either over the radio on Saturdays at 12:10, in the newspaper in the Saturday edition, or by personal letter.

If people 9-13 want to take part in this program, but cannot come to the 4-H and Grange Building on March 29, they can pick up their seeds, instructions, and project book at the Extension Office after April 1.

The members in Mrs. G. Arden will be grouped in numbers of 15. There will be three Junior Leaders who will help these members with special problems and will give them individualized instruction with their garden project.

In the way of announcements, the Stylish Stitches 4-H club will have its first meeting on March 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Joyce Hedges. Anyone interested in joining this club should go to this meeting.

Oil Demand Down

Oil surpluses have emerged as one of the most critical facts of the current world energy situation. That's right, surpluses. Every major oil producer is experiencing a buildup in unsold inventories despite the fact many of them have been reducing output since January.

A world-wide slowdown in business activity is partly to blame for the demand shrinkage, but many in the industry credit concentrated efforts at conservation to avoid the high oil prices as the main factor. As a result of reduced demand, some of the major oil producers in the Persian Gulf area have reduced output to 60 per cent or less of potential.

Minor — very minor — downward pressures on prices have resulted from the oil glut. At the moment the strategy of the producers belonging to the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries is to sit tight and do nothing. If the oil isn't sold today, they figure, it will be tomorrow.

If the OPEC members stick together on this strategy they could be right. But with the cost of extracting oil only about 20 cents a barrel, and the world price now just short of $13 a barrel, much room remains for individual oil producers who are willing to compromise on price for a larger share of the market.

A 'Snap' Job

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — People ... Places ... Planets ...
Distressing sign of this jaded age: The New York Times, the most diligently space-minded newspaper in the world, relegated the breath-taking story of Mariner 10's sweep past Mercury to page 58 of a 60-page March 17 edition.

The following day, the Times carried a small editorial scolding its readers for not throwing their hats in the air over such a magnificent achievement. In the same issue, it ran the story of that magnificent achievement and a small close-up of the planet's surface on page 74 of a 76-page paper.

Clearly, we no longer give a damn, worldly things being what they are, about celestial probes that would have caused Copernicus to cop a plea and Galileo to retain Louis Nizer or Edward Bennett Williams for his Inquisition trial.

Mariner 10, a half-ton unmanned vehicle launched from Cape Kennedy Nov. 3, 1973, flew relatively close to Venus on February 5, 1974, a brain-numbing fact in itself. Then it caromed off that spookily bright planet's gravitational field and proceeded across millions of miles of empty space to Mercury, the heavenly body nearest our little life-giving star we call the sun.

It took some real nice pictures of Venus — are you reading me, Henry the Navigator? — and sent them back to earth at the speed of light, which is 186,282 miles per SECOND.

It went on to take the first pictures of Mercury on March 29, 1974, swung millions more miles through the empty void, came back and took a closer look at Mercury's surface, closer than we've ever trained a camera's eye on a planet.

Now it is headed into a solar orbit. It will break out of it sometime in the future and fly past Mercury again, our space wizards at Pasadena and elsewhere have figured out. But when it does it will have exhausted its "attitude control gas" and all it will be able to do is wobble past the planet, its camera out of control.

The pictures Mariner 10 sent back on its latest probe of Mercury took nine minutes to get to earth. There are 60 seconds in a minute, 540 seconds in nine minutes. Multiply that by 186,282 and you get the distance over which the pictures were transmitted. (100,592,280 miles).

Big strong camera? Nope. It required less wattage to send those pictures over those interminable miles than activates the little light that blinks on when you open your refrigerator door.

All other considerations to one side, former White House official Bob Haldeman is worth the $25,000 CBS will pay him for an hour of prime time on two successive Sundays. Haldeman's

Super-8 home movies are worth that alone on any sponsored program. He shot thousands of feet of film on President Nixon's trips around the world, steady-handed closeups of enchanting journeys to China, Russia, India, Pakistan, etc. etc.

All that, if swatches of the films are shown, and interlaced soul-bearing should make it CBS's biggest bargain of the year.

"Your Majesty, why do the women have to wear gloves to meet you and the men don't?" Barbra Streisand asked Queen Elizabeth II as she shook hands — thus holding up the receiving line.

Her Majesty was stumped, first by the fact that nobody is supposed to speak before she does, at one of these receptions, and, second, by the fact that she had probably never been

Did CIA Recover Nuclear Torpedoes?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIA is believed to have recovered at least two nuclear torpedo warheads in its effort last summer to raise wreckage of a Soviet submarine that sank in the Pacific Ocean, The Washington Post reported today.

The newspaper said sources described recovery of the nuclear-tipped torpedoes as a major victory for U.S. intelligence.

Meanwhile, the head of the Senate's special intelligence committee said Thursday there is a chance the panel may subpoena billionaire Howard Hughes, who contracted to build and operate the mammoth oceanographic vessel which was used in the CIA submarine-raising mission.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, made the remark in response to a question at a meeting with reporters. However, an aide to Church later said: "There's no big plan to subpoena Howard."

The Post account said the two nuclear torpedo warheads retrieved were in the portion of the Soviet submarine raised northwest of Hawaii from an ocean depth of 17,000 feet by the Hughes ship Glomar Explorer, under the CIA's direction. The sub sank in 1968.

The newspaper quoted one source as commenting on the intelligence value of the reported find:

"It makes no difference that torpedo warheads are relatively small compared to missile warheads. Any kind of warhead gives us a priceless insight into their technology and their approach to solving nuclear weapons problems."

The Soviet submarine — said to be a conventional-powered G-class craft — is believed to have been fitted with curious enough to ask herself.

A third war between the two great English-speaking nations was averted when the Queen said, "Well, I don't really know. It's just a tradition, I suppose."

We mourned here the other day that the late Aristotle Onassis died before he was able really to see the $95,000,000 Olympic Tower on Fifth Avenue. He owned what apparently was (and is) a 50 per cent interest in the combined office building-condominium across the Street from St. Patrick's Cathedral.

"Oh, he saw most of it before he went off to Paris and died," a friend tells us. "He roamed through the unfinished place every time he was in New York. They'd put a hard-hat on him, and he'd give an elevator man a hundred dollar tip to take him to this floor and that."

three launching tubes for nuclear-armed missiles. There has been one unconfirmed report that one of the missile warheads was recovered. The Post also said one report "being circulated by intelligence sources on the fringe of the CIA" claims the Glomar Explorer actually retrieved the entire sunken submarine rather than just one-third of it, as most other accounts have indicated.

Bingo Bill Vote Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill protecting religious and charitable groups from prosecution for conducting non-profit gambling games has been sent to the House Rules Committee for assignment to a floor vote.

The bill was approved 16-1 by the House Judiciary Committee on Thursday.

The proposal would specify in the law that games of chance operated by certain tax-exempt organizations are not gambling. The classification of organizations is based on the Internal Revenue Service tax exemption statutes.

The bill is a committee substitute for a similar one introduced by Rep. Ronald H. Weyandt, D-43 Akron.

It was filed in response to court rulings that a current law allowing charitable gambling is unconstitutional.

Coal Gasification Bill Introduced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Freshman Sen. Charles L. Butts, D-23 Cleveland, has called for a constitutional change to permit Ohio to construct coal gasification plants with self-retiring revenue bonds.

He said Thursday he does not believe a bill introduced in the House by Rep. A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, can "get around" an apparent constitutional ban against using industrial revenue bonds for utilities.

Butts said he would like to join with Lancione on a constitutional amendment that would let the state build demonstration plants and perhaps help its bid to land a coal gasification plant to be built by the federal government.

The Cleveland introduced Thursday a bill that would permit bond financing of solid waste disposal facilities.

Kaltenbach Buys Gooding Co. Rides

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Gooding Amusement Co.'s rides and rolling stock have been purchased for nearly $1 million by Jerry L. Kaltenbach, former Ohio State Fair manager.

A Franklin County Probate Court judge approved Thursday the Gooding shareholders' request that Kaltenbach's offer be accepted.

Today In History

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Multiple sclerosis has resisted yielding some of its complex mysteries to the probings of scientific study.

With special persistence, a group of scientists at the Rockefeller University in New York City are studying this disorder. They believe that cellular immune deficiency may, in a measure, be responsible for this disease. Dr. John Zabriskie and Dr. Virginia Utermohlen are trying to increase the level of immunity in the hope that the progress of multiple sclerosis may be delayed.

In a series of cases already tried, a few patients have shown remarkable improvement with this complicated approach to cellular immunity.

A new aerosol spray is being tried for the relief of certain types of asthma.

The drug, triamcinolone acetonide, closely resembles one that has been tried effectively in Great Britain.

At the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York City, Dr. M.

Henry Williams is using the drug as a substitute for the cortisone sprays that are now in use.

The side effects of the drug seem to be less than those associated with the use of the cortisone preparation.

A single drop of blood is all that is needed in a test for lead poisoning which has recently been developed at the Bell Laboratories.

This method will replace the current one in use, which requires a large sample of blood and a long delay in obtaining the results.

The test can be done by a nurse or a paramedical assistant. The sample is placed on a glass slide and passed through a special electronic device.

By this method it will be more convenient to screen, at regular intervals, those workers who may be exposed to lead absorption.

It will be a simpler test, too, for children who are suspected of having high concentrations of lead after nibbling paint off walls or furniture.

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

Hearings in the House Finance Appropriations Committee and Senate Finance Committees are now underway on Governor Rhodes' proposed 1975-77 budget. For the time being, budgetary deliberations will overshadow the Governor's four-point economic recovery program, but as indicated in last week's report the two are linked. Budget size and priorities depend directly on the state of Ohio's economy since revenue fluctuates with sales, income and corporate taxes and state spending on crime prevention and social services rise with unemployment.

Compromise is inevitable between the Governor's record $12.2 billion package and the $11.5 billion Democrat version introduced in January. The current $10.4 billion biennial budget ends June 30.

The budget is composed of 12 categories among which operating funds are allocated: $7.25 billion or 59 per cent of the total is scheduled for the General Revenue Fund, while remaining $4.95 billion is divided among 11 earmarked fund groups.

Greatest increases are in education, human services, and mental health and retardation. A $3.29 billion total education package, compared with $2.71 billion in the current biennium, allocates $2.22 billion to primary and secondary levels, $1 billion to higher education and $15 million to other programs.

Funding specifications could yield a $1,000-a-year salary hike for teachers, but Democrat legislative leadership has expressed opposition to direct payment to teachers. Majority Democrats in the legislature refused to accept a proposed direct cost-of-living adjustment for teachers in the recent supplemental appropriation for education.

Per pupil support in the General Revenue Fund under the Rhodes budget would increase from the present $660 to $760 in 1976 and $800 in 1977, but does not address the question of a proposed new school subsidy formula tagged at an estimated $650 million beyond capital improvement, maintenance and inflation adjustment costs.

Human services programs will receive $2.65 billion, much of which goes to increasing welfare and unemployment costs underestimated by the previous administration. Without improvement in Ohio's economy both will continue to climb, eventually requiring tax hikes to support legislatively mandated programs.

Mental health and retardation funding takes a significant increase from the current $501 to $628 as emphasis is shifted from institutional to community-oriented care. New facility construction funding is set at $175 million under the premise that more personalized care is available at the local level.

Although the Rhodes budget is balanced as proposed, the Senate last week passed and sent to the House an anti-recession bill to stimulate auto sales which could put a dent in the Governor's calculations. Substitute Senate Bill 43 suspends collection of state sales and use taxes on new motor vehicles bought before July 1, and could, according to critics, leave the state short of $31.9 million in anticipated revenues. Without action on an integrated economic recovery policy, this sort of piecemeal approach is likely to continue.

Court To Hear Trial Delay Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has agreed to clarify when the state's new "speedy trial" law requires the state to drop criminal prosecutions.

The court accepted an appeal from a man convicted in Wooster of drunken driving, even though his trial was delayed by a heavy docket of cases.

The prosecutor in the case took the unusual step of asking the Supreme Court to hear the defendant's appeal because of the importance of the decision to future criminal trials.

The case involves a section of the new criminal code which in most cases requires jailed criminal suspects to be brought to trial within 90 days. If the trial is delayed beyond 90 days without good reason, the charge must be dismissed.

A Page Of Opinion

Oil Demand Down

Oil surpluses have emerged as one of the most critical facts of the current world energy situation. That's right, surpluses. Every major oil producer is experiencing a buildup in unsold inventories despite the fact many of them have been reducing output since January.

A world-wide slowdown in business activity is partly to blame for the demand shrinkage, but many in the industry credit concentrated efforts at conservation to avoid the high oil prices as the main factor. As a result of reduced demand, some of the major oil producers in the Persian Gulf area have reduced output to 60 per cent or less of potential.

Minor — very minor — downward pressures on prices have resulted from the oil glut. At the moment the strategy of the producers belonging to the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries is to sit tight and do nothing. If the oil isn't sold today, they figure, it will be tomorrow.

If the OPEC members stick together on this strategy they could be right. But with the cost of extracting oil only about 20 cents a barrel, and the world price now just short of $13 a barrel, much room remains for individual oil producers who are willing to compromise on price for a larger share of the market.

A 'Snap' Job

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — People ... Places ... Planets ...

Distressing sign of this jaded age: The New York Times, the most diligently space-minded newspaper in the world, relegated the breath-taking story of Mariner 10's sweep past Mercury to page 58 of a 60-page March 17 edition.

The following day, the Times carried a small editorial scolding its readers for not throwing their hats in the air over such a magnificent achievement. In the same issue, it ran the story of that magnificent achievement and a small close-up of the planet's surface on page 74 of a 76-page paper.

Clearly, we no longer give a damn, worldly things being what they are, about celestial probes that would have caused Copernicus to cop a plea and Galileo to retain Louis Nizer or Edward Bennett Williams for his Inquisition trial.

Mariner 10, a half-ton unmanned vehicle launched from Cape Kennedy Nov. 3, 1973, flew relatively close to Venus on February 5, 1974, a brain-numbing fact in itself. Then it caromed off that spookily bright planet's gravitational field and proceeded across millions of miles of empty space to Mercury, the heavenly body nearest our little life-giving star we call the sun.

It took some real nice pictures of Venus — are you reading me, Henry the Navigator? — and sent them back to earth at the speed of light, which is 186,282 miles per SECOND.

It went on to take the first pictures of Mercury on March 29, 1974, swung millions more miles through the empty void, came back and took a closer look at Mercury's surface, closer than we've ever trained a camera's eye on a planet.

Now it is headed into a solar orbit. It will break out of it sometime in the future and fly past Mercury again, our space wizards at Pasadena and elsewhere have figured out. But when it does it will have exhausted its "attitude control gas" and all it will be able to do is wobble past the planet, its camera out of control.

The pictures Mariner 10 sent back on its latest probe of Mercury took nine minutes to get to earth. There are 60 seconds in a minute, 540 seconds in nine minutes. Multiply that by 186,282 and you get the distance over which the pictures were transmitted. (100,592,280 miles).

Big strong camera? Nope. It required less wattage to send those pictures over those interminable miles than activates the little light that blinks on when you open your refrigerator door.

All other considerations to one side, former White House official Bob Haldeman is worth the $25,000 CBS will pay him for an hour of prime time on two successive Sundays. Haldeman's

Super-8 home movies are worth that alone on any sponsored program. He shot thousands of feet of film on President Nixon's trips around the world, steady-handed closeups of enchanting journeys to China, Russia, India, Pakistan, etc. etc.

All that, if swatches of the films are shown, and interlaced soul-bearing should make it CBS's biggest bargain of the year.

"Your Majesty, why do the women have to wear gloves to meet you and the men don't?" Barbra Streisand asked Queen Elizabeth II as she shook hands — thus holding up the receiving line.

Her Majesty was stumped, first by the fact that nobody is supposed to speak before she does, at one of these receptions, and, second, by the fact that she had probably never been

Did CIA Recover Nuclear Torpedoes?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIA is believed to have recovered at least two nuclear torpedo warheads in its effort last summer to raise wreckage of a Soviet submarine that sank in the Pacific Ocean, The Washington Post reported today.

The newspaper said sources described recovery of the nuclear-tipped torpedoes as a major victory for U.S. intelligence.

Meanwhile, the head of the Senate's special intelligence committee said Thursday there is a chance the panel may subpoena billionaire Howard Hughes, who contracted to build and operate the mammoth oceanographic vessel which was used in the CIA submarine-raising mission.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, made the remark in response to a question at a meeting with reporters. However, an aide to Church later said: "There's no big plan to subpoena Howard."

The Post account said the two nuclear torpedo warheads retrieved were in the portion of the Soviet submarine raised northwest of Hawaii from an ocean depth of 17,000 feet by the Hughes ship Glomar Explorer, under the CIA's direction. The sub sank in 1968.

The newspaper quoted one source as commenting on the intelligence value of the reported find:

"It makes no difference that torpedo warheads are relatively small compared to missile warheads. Any kind of warhead gives us a priceless insight into their technology and their approach to solving nuclear weapons problems."

The Soviet submarine — said to be a conventional-powered G-class craft — is believed to have been fitted with curious enough to ask herself.

A third war between the two great English-speaking nations was averted when the Queen said, "Well, I don't really know. It's just a tradition, I suppose."

We mourned here the other day that the late Aristotle Onassis died before he was able really to see the $95,000,000 Olympic Tower on Fifth Avenue. He owned what apparently was (and is) a 50 per cent interest in the combined office building-condominium across the Street from St. Patrick's Cathedral.

"Oh, he saw most of it before he went off to Paris and died," a friend tells us. "He roamed through the unfinished place every time he was in New York. They'd put a hard-hat on him, and he'd give an elevator man a hundred dollar tip to take him to this floor and that."

three launching tubes for nuclear-armed missiles. There has been one unconfirmed report that one of the missile warheads was recovered.

The Post also said one report "being circulated by intelligence sources on the fringe of the CIA" claims the Glomar Explorer actually retrieved the entire sunken submarine rather than just one-third of it, as most other accounts have indicated.

Bingo Bill Vote Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill protecting religious and charitable groups from prosecution for conducting non-profit gambling games has been sent to the House Rules Committee for assignment to a floor vote.

The bill was approved 16-1 by the House Judiciary Committee on Thursday.

The proposal would specify in the law that games of chance operated by certain tax-exempt organizations are not gambling. The classification of organizations is based on the Internal Revenue Service tax exemption statutes.

The bill is a committee substitute for a similar one introduced by Rep. Ronald H. Weyandt, D-43 Akron.

It was filed in response to court rulings that a current law allowing charitable gambling is unconstitutional.

Coal Gasification Bill Introduced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Freshman Sen. Charles L. Butts, D-23 Cleveland, has called for a constitutional change to permit Ohio to construct coal gasification plants with self-retracting revenue bonds.

He said Thursday he does not believe a bill introduced in the House by Rep. A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, can "get around" an apparent constitutional ban against using industrial revenue bonds for utilities.

Butts said he would like to join with Lancione on a constitutional amendment that would let the state build demonstration plants and perhaps help its bid to land a coal gasification plant to be built by the federal government.

The Cleveland introduced Thursday a bill that would permit bond financing of solid waste disposal facilities.

Kaltenbach Buys Gooding Co. Rides

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Gooding Amusement Co.'s rides and rolling stock have been purchased for nearly $1 million by Jerry L. Kaltenbach, former Ohio State Fair manager.

A Franklin County Probate Court judge approved Thursday the Gooding shareholders' request that Kaltenbach's offer be accepted.

Cost-Price Squeeze Calls For Better Job Of Planning

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The present cost-price squeeze means that the dairymen will need to do an even better job of planning and dealing with the details of the business if profits are to be maintained.

Extra time spent evaluating last year's business to see where the weak and strong spots were is basic for planning ahead. Complete and accurate dairy business records with a computer year-end business analysis available through the Extension Service or Vocational Agriculture departments are invaluable in times of increased costs of inputs and sticky prices. This computer year-end business analysis assists a manager in doing the fine tuning that is necessary in today's farm business planning.

Following are some specific areas of the farm business that need to be looked at in more detail in 1975:

The feed cost squeeze is the real culprit. Feed constitutes from 50-60 per cent of the total costs in dairying. The last few years feed costs have increased drastically as has been pointed out previously. Compare feed grains and proteins on their feeding value and on their most economical source. Forage is the key ingredient so make changes gradually. Ration analysis and least-cost ration computer programs are available through your dairy science and farm management area extension agent. Considerable feed can be wasted by rodent damage and by feed bunks in poor repair.

Mechanization must either help expand the volume of business, reduce the hired labor requirement or improve timeliness otherwise net profits can be reduced by the new investment. Repairs, depreciation, insurance, interest and fuel make up 25 to 30 per cent of the cost of production.

How do you keep these costs down? One way to keep costs down would be, overhaul repair and tune up machinery during winter days, this can reduce fuel consumption and save valuable time later. Another way to keep costs down is if new purchases seem necessary consider all methods of gaining control to get the job done before committing capital.

Costs of these items have skyrocketed in the past two years. Plan to purchase fertilizer, seed and sprays well in advance of need. Forced or last minute decisions are generally most costly. Some cautions: 1. Don't over fertilize. It's very important to have some idea of yield response on your soils. An extra 100 pounds of fertilizer without added yield will be money wasted. 2. Store these supplies where there will be no wasted material. 3. Use only the amounts of secretary; Lisa Gleason, health chairman; Debbie Schleich, safety chairman; Kim Swackhammer, treasurer; Beth Hindy, news reporter; Robin Rowland, recreation leader.

Advisors are Mrs. Helen Swackhammer and Mrs. Juanita Schleich. A special meeting will be held March 24 to make hospital favors.

The next regular meeting will be 7 p.m. April 3.

Reports of 4-H Club meetings must be turned into the Pickaway County Agricultural Extension office, 137 W. Franklin St.

As farmers and consumers have found the past few years, what happens to grain crops in other countries plays a very real part in determining the total food supply and how much U.S. producers get for what they grow.

Given normal weather, for example, U.S. farmers this year could produce seed and spray recommended. The old feeling of, "If a little will do the job, more is better" is a costly practice today.

The rapid fuel price increase in 1973-74 has finally eased. However, there is a chance for further rise. Fuel saving steps are in order: a. Tune-up tractors and motors to get most efficient use of fuel. b. Reduce all unnecessary trips with tractors, trucks and automobiles. Plan ahead for your needs from town so one trip will do the job of three or four.

Interest rates are high and will probably continue at high levels. How can you keep costs down? a. Use a minimum of dealer credit. This will usually run a minimum of one per cent per month but usually 1½ per cent per month. This is an annual rate of 12-18 per cent. b. Pay off short-term debt as fast as possible. This usually has higher interest rates than long term money. c. Don't pay your mortgage any faster than needed. It is your lowest interest rate. Use extra money to pay off short-term debt or buy supplies at discount rates. d. If necessary, refinance debts so a larger amount is on a long term basis with lower interest rates. If you have an old mortgage with low interest it may not pay to make a change.

High labor productivity correlates with high net farm income in most cases. Plan your labor chore routes and total labor schedule to cut the time input. If you are hiring labor, it will continue to cost you more; so strive for top productivity per man.

Man Offers To Sell Eye

KANE, Pa. (AP)—Donald Schlopy offered to sell an eye to support his children, and he pledges to do it even though he's received hundreds of letters and donations.

"There's been a lot of talk going around about whether I started this as a gimmick and never intended to sell the eye to begin with. I'm going to stick with my offer," Schlopy said Thursday.

So far, he says he's been contacted by two possible buyers.

"A lady in Florida wants to buy the eye for her son in California, but I've been unable to contact him," he said. Another person in East Liverpool, Ohio, is interested, but Schlopy says he wants to settle the offer first.

Schlopy's wife left him four years ago, and he is raising three children in this northwestern Pennsylvania town.

When he was laid off earlier this month from a shipping clerk job, he owed about $4,000. He said that's when he decided to sell an eye.

"I sold everything worth selling and the T-V is being repossessed," he said. "There's nothing left but junk furniture. I just couldn't think of another way."

CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SERVICE LEGAL NOTICE

The Director of Public Service of the City of Circleville, Ohio will receive bids at his office at City Hall, 127 South Court Street, Circleville, Ohio 43113, until 12:00 Noon Eastern Daylight Time Wednesday, April 9, 1975 for the removal of the following structures located on City-owned lots within the City of Circleville, Ohio:

record crops of wheat and livestock feed grains. If so, and if export markets dwindled next year, prices are sure to tumble even further.

Thus, farmers, grain traders and government experts continue to monitor the crop situation in other countries, particularly in areas where bumper harvests could lead to larger world export supplies and in those areas where food shortages are likely if harvests there are skimpy.

A new analysis of the world weather situation raises the possibility that winter grain crops planted last fall for harvest in 1975 are doing well in a number of important areas of the world, including the Soviet Union and Europe, and that the situation is shaping up fairly well for spring planting.

The analysis, published in a weekly weather and crop bulletin issued by USDA and the Commerce Department, covered the six weeks ending March 15. Here are some of its highlights:

—"The unseasonably mild weather continued through February and into mid-March in Europe. Freezing temperatures were rare except in the extreme north and east portions. Even the lowest temperatures were not sufficient to cause any significant damage.

—"In the Mediterranean basin, rains have brought significant relief from the prolonged drought in many of the western basin countries. The eastern Mediterranean has continued to receive timely rains."

—"Timely rains have favored corn and soybean crops in Argentina. Well-above normal rainfall fell across most of Australia except in the southeast and southcentral portions."

—"China has experienced a moderate winter in contrast to last year's drought and severe cold."

The report said there have been conflicting reports about crops in India, including "official tones of optimism" there about the country's prospects for spring-harvested crop production.

"Yet rainfall through the key growing states has been below normal throughout the growing season," the report said. "February was well below normal in most of these states, and rainfall activity during March has been limited to the eastern areas."

Cost-Price Squeeze Calls For Better Job Of Planning

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The present cost-price squeeze means that the dairymen will need to do an even better job of planning and dealing with the details of the business if profits are to be maintained.

Extra time spent evaluating last year's business to see where the weak and strong spots were is basic for planning ahead. Complete and accurate dairy business records with a computer year-end business analysis available through the Extension Service or Vocational Agriculture departments are invaluable in times of increased costs of inputs and sticky prices. This computer year-end business analysis assists a manager in doing the fine tuning that is necessary in today's farm business planning.

Following are some specific areas of the farm business that need to be looked at in more detail in 1975:

The feed cost squeeze is the real culprit. Feed constitutes from 50-60 per cent of the total costs in dairying. The last few years feed costs have increased drastically as has been pointed out previously. Compare feed grains and proteins on their feeding value and on their most economical source. Forage is the key ingredient so make changes gradually. Ration analysis and least-cost ration computer programs are available through your dairy science and farm management area extension agent. Considerable feed can be wasted by rodent damage and by feed bunks in poor repair.

Mechanization must either help expand the volume of business, reduce the hired labor requirement or improve timeliness otherwise net profits can be reduced by the new investment. Repairs, depreciation, insurance, interest and fuel make up 25 to 30 per cent of the cost of production.

How do you keep these costs down? One way to keep costs down would be, overhaul repair and tune up machinery during winter days, this can reduce fuel consumption and save valuable time later. Another way to keep costs down is if new purchases seem necessary consider all methods of gaining control to get the job done before committing capital.

Costs of these items have skyrocketed in the past two years. Plan to purchase fertilizer, seed and sprays well in advance of need. Forced or last minute decisions are generally most costly. Some cautions: 1. Don't over fertilize. It's very important to have some idea of yield response on your soils. An extra 100 pounds of fertilizer without added yield will be money wasted. 2. Store these supplies where there will be no wasted material. 3. Use only the amounts of secretary; Lisa Gleason, health chairman; Debbie Schleich, safety chairman; Kim Swackhammer, treasurer; Beth Hindy, news reporter; Robin Rowland, recreation leader.

Advisors are Mrs. Helen Swackhammer and Mrs. Juanita Schleich. A special meeting will be held March 24 to make hospital favors.

The next regular meeting will be 7 p.m. April 3.

Reports of 4-H Club meetings must be turned into the Pickaway County Agricultural Extension office, 137 W. Franklin St.

As farmers and consumers have found the past few years, what happens to grain crops in other countries plays a very real part in determining the total food supply and how much U.S. producers get for what they grow.

Given normal weather, for example, U.S. farmers this year could produce seed and spray recommended. The old feeling of, "If a little will do the job, more is better" is a costly practice today.

The rapid fuel price increase in 1973-74 has finally eased. However, there is a chance for further rise. Fuel saving steps are in order: a. Tune-up tractors and motors to get most efficient use of fuel. b. Reduce all unnecessary trips with tractors, trucks and automobiles. Plan ahead for your needs from town so one trip will do the job of three or four.

Interest rates are high and will probably continue at high levels. How can you keep costs down? a. Use a minimum of dealer credit. This will usually run a minimum of one per cent per month but usually 1½ per cent per month. This is an annual rate of 12-18 per cent. b. Pay off short-term debt as fast as possible. This usually has higher interest rates than long term money. c. Don't pay your mortgage any faster than needed. It is your lowest interest rate. Use extra money to pay off short-term debt or buy supplies at discount rates. d. If necessary, refinance debts so a larger amount is on a long term basis with lower interest rates. If you have an old mortgage with low interest it may not pay to make a change.

High labor productivity correlates with high net farm income in most cases. Plan your labor chore routes and total labor schedule to cut the time input. If you are hiring labor, it will continue to cost you more; so strive for top productivity per man.

Man Offers To Sell Eye

KANE, Pa. (AP)—Donald Schlopy offered to sell an eye to support his children, and he pledges to do it even though he's received hundreds of letters and donations.

"There's been a lot of talk going around about whether I started this as a gimmick and never intended to sell the eye to begin with. I'm going to stick with my offer," Schlopy said Thursday.

So far, he says he's been contacted by two possible buyers.

GIRL OF THE YEAR—Jeanne Moore, in the center, was named Girl Of The Year by members of Xi Eta Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi at its meeting Tuesday evening. On Mrs. Moore's right is LaDonna Kelchner, the most active member and on her left is Jeanne Ankrom, guest speaker.

Sorority Names Jeanne Moore As 1974 Girl Of The Year

Xi Eta Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority named its Girl of the year and those who had done outstanding work at the Tuesday evening meeting in the Pickaway

Wedding Planned For March 25th

BRENDA LUCILLE LARGENT

The engagement of Miss Brenda Lucille Largent and Ralph F. Wolford is announced by her mother, Mrs. Margaret Schulze, 444 Clinton St. Parents of Mr. Wolford are Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Wolford, 349 Barnes Ave.

Miss Largent, also the daughter of John D. Largent Sr. of Washington, is a student at Circleville High School and employed at Berger Hospital.

Her fiance is a 1972 graduate of Circleville High School and is serving with the U.S. Marine Corps.

The wedding will take place 5:30 p.m., March 25th, at First Church of Christ in Christian Union with the Rev. David Cyrus officiating.

Ohio CC League Southeast District Conference Held

Southeast District of Ohio Child Conservation League held its annual Spring Conference on March 15th at Logan Senior High School.

The day began with a coffee which preceded a business session attended by 365 members. Mrs. Robert Remy of Ashville, presided. A welcome was given by Kenneth Warling, superintendent of Logan Schools. Greetings from the hostess leagues were extended by Mrs. Billy Callender, chairman of the conference, Mrs. Jack Baumgardt of Lancaster, past District president of the Southeast District, responded.

Program book awards for 1975 were given by Mrs. Remy to two clubs who shared top honors, Today's Tomorrows of Pickerington and Club 20 of Pataskala.

New clubs and their sponsors were recognized. Three were organized by Mrs. Roy Boyer after the Spring Conference in 1974. Mrs. Remy has organized three clubs since her installation in October.

Elected by a unanimous vote as officers for the coming year were: Mrs. Robert Remy, president; Mrs. James Clark, nominating committee chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Turner, Mrs. Loren Hewitt, Mrs. Glenn Jones and Mrs. Gene Milks, other members of the nominating committee. They will assume their duties following State Convention in October.

Workshops followed the election which included tote painting, belly dancing, budgeting food, Lamaze natural childbirth, self defense for women, handicrafts, new presidents, programs, and husbands' and childrens' parties.

Bill Price of Logan was speaker for the afternoon session. He has been Director of Natural Resources at Hocking Technical College in Nelsonville since 1968. He served the state for 15 years as a naturalist in the Park Division. He also writes feature articles for the Athens Messenger, a daily newspaper.

Early Doctors In Pickaway County Sorority Program

Mrs. John Kelchner announced plans for the Spring Banquet to members of Xi Eta Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority during its recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Robert Sutton, 1980 Chippewa Drive. The banquet will be held April 26th at the Masonic Temple in Chillicothe.

Members agreed to donate money to the Beta Sigma Phi Endowment, Exemplar and Loan Funds. Mrs. Charles Curlett proposed sponsoring girls from the E. Main St. home to take an arts and crafts course. She also reported on the Bi-centennial meeting for organizations. Mrs. Curlett was appointed as the sorority's representative. She said the committee would like for the organizations to have programs individually and collectively.

A bride's tray was presented to Mrs. Sutton, the former Norma Feldmann, from her sorority sister.

For the program Mrs. Curlett used the topic "Medical Service And Facilities," telling of the doctors in Pickaway County from the year 1800. The first Surgeon General of Ohio was Dr. Samuel Denney Turney who had his practice in Circleville and is buried in Forest Cemetery.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to Mrs. John Kelchner, Mrs. Charles Curlett, Mrs. C. E. Linn, Mrs. Lavina Patterson, Mrs. Richard Koch, Mrs. Brent Rhoads, Mrs. James Minor, Mrs. John Moore, Mrs. Robert Wilkinson and Mrs. Jerry Walters.

"A DELICIOUS DIVISION OF VAN-ORR FOODS"

STATE WINNER—Marlane Stulley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Stulley, of Route 1, Kingston, and a student of Pickaway Twp. School, has won third place in the state competition of DAR Essay Contest for the sixth grade. Mr. and Mrs. Stulley and family accompanied Marlane to the State DAR Convention last Tuesday at the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel, Cleveland. Awards were presented at the Indian Luncheon, where they were guests of the Pickaway Plains chapter. Marlane received a booklet titled "Women Of The American Revolution" for her essay concerning Jemima Johnson, a patriot who helped save the fort at Bryan's Station, Ky., as she and other women left the fort's safety and carried water to the men who were fighting during an Indian siege.

Jean Ankrom Speaker For Secretaries Assn.

Roundtown Chapter of The National Secretaries Assn. met recently at Shawnee Vineyards for its monthly meeting.

President Maxine Andregg welcomed 23 members and three guests, Karen Sabine, Pickaway County Board of Education; Teresa Byrd, Pickaway County ASC Office and Mrs. Jean Ankrom, Chamber of Commerce, speakers for the evening.

The invocation was given by Joy Slone who introduced Mrs. Jean Ankrom, Executive Director of the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Ankrom used as her subject, The Bicentennial Celebration and the Commission in Pickaway County which has been established for this purpose.

She said numerous committees have been formed, such as: military, clergy, schools, civic, commercial, merchants, industry, rural and farm groups, events, and women's groups, in an effort to involve everyone in Pickaway County in the celebration in some manner. Displayable pictures will be needed and welcomed by anyone who has access to any of historical value.

She told the group of the Logo contest and of the winner, Mrs. Dean Barr. This was discussed as to the uses of the logo and the part it would play in the over-all celebration. Mrs. Ankrom said that if used commercially, a fee will be charged. A tentative date of May 10th, has been set for the kick-off celebration.

During the Fourth of July at Ashville the following themes will be used: historical, festivals and horizons. She urged everyone to compile the histories of their respective organizations, churches, governments and families, saying that many of these groups are now actively working on them.

Youth groups in Pickaway County will be especially active in that their project will be the cleaning of cemeteries in the areas and restoring any fallen markers, to their original places if possible. There will be a marking of historical areas and brochures will be made, so that not only visitors but residents, will have the opportunity to visit places, possibly unknown to them having value.

The women's organizations will be especially proud, as their project will be an erecting of a monument to the Grenadier Squaw, the first business women in Pickaway County.

She requested that anyone who has antiques, pictures, collections or anything which would relate to the history of our county, should be urged to share with the community at this time.

Possibly the making of dresses and bonnets of this period to be worn in the downtown area at certain times will be part of women's organizations.

The business meeting was conducted by Maxine Andregg. Committees reported on further projects, such as an Easter basket to be sent to a needy family. Members brought canned goods, staples and other items to fill the basket.

The winners of the drawing (tickets having been sold this past month) were: Harold Bivens, Chris Hardman and Doris Hulse.

A silent auction was held by Charles Forsythe as a money making project. Items sold were a 52 x 70 table cloth, napkins, ceramic candy dish and linen dish towels.

In observance of Secretaries Week this year, it was announced that the

A Dozen Rules For Ladies

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year old school teacher. (Female.) I teach tenth grade students in a public school. I love my work and wouldn't want to do anything else.

I also feel that I am entitled to live the kind of lifestyle I feel is right for me.

Now, my problem: I have fallen in love with a man, and we want to live together. Neither one of us wants to get married right now-or maybe ever.

I dislike lying but I doubt that I could continue my teaching job in this city while living with a man who is not my husband.

Do you know of any community that is sufficiently sophisticated to permit their school teachers the freedom to live as they wish?

Secretaries Luncheon will be held on April 26th at 12:30 in the Community United Methodist Church. Guests will be welcomed by reservations only.

Members were urged to attend the Ohio Division Annual Meeting to be held at Salt Fork Lodge, Cambridge on May 16th-18th. The co-ordinator for the Roundtown Chapter will be Dorothy Ann Evans. June West will serve as co-ordinator for the International Annual Meeting to be held in Montreal, Canada.

The slate of officers for the year 1975-1976 were presented by the nominating committee: Sara Jane Huffines, Joyce Carpenter and Jeanne Moore. These will be voted on at the April meeting.

"Truly, the lifestyle of a school teacher has changed radically in the last fifty or sixty years. For example, a 1915 teachers' magazine listed the following rules of conduct for teachers of that day:

1. You will not marry during the term of your contract.
2. You are not to keep company with men.
3. You must be home between the hours of 8 p.m. and 6 a.m. unless attending a school function.
4. You may not loiter downtown in ice cream stores.
5. You may not travel beyond the city limits unless you have the permission of the chairman of the board.
6. You may not ride in a carriage or automobile with any man unless he is your father or brother.
7. You may not smoke cigarettes.
8. You may not dress in bright colors.
9. You may under no circumstances dye your hair.
10. You must wear at least two petticoats.
11. Your dresses must not be any shorter than two inches above the ankle.
12. To keep the school room neat and clean, you must: sweep the floor at least once daily; scrub the floor at least once a week with hot, soapy water; clean the blackboards at least once a day; and start the fire at 7 a.m. so the room will be warm by 8 a.m."

DEAR ABBY: This is for "G" in Long Beach, who allowed herself to be photographed in various stages of undress by a total stranger, who subsequently disappeared with all the pictures and some of her money. The chances are that the photographer was some kook who got his kicks from just watching the girl pose; or he may be keeping the pictures for his own use. It's doubtful that her picture will ever be published in any important girlie magazine, but it might be sold to a cheap underground publication that will print anything.

Unless "G" signed a model's release, authorizing the photographer to use those pictures, he cannot make any commercial use of them. And if he does, and "G" finds out about it she can sue the pants off him.

P.R. IN L.A.
DEAR P.R.: "G" was not a professional model, and from her description of the photographer, he wasn't a professional either. The moral of that story was plainly: "Girls who pose without any clothes have their brains in their nose."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "P": I would certainly not be in any hurry to marry a man who positively refused to take a blood test. Instead of trying to find out where a couple can be married without a blood test, find out why he is so opposed to taking one.

Hog Cutbacks Pressure Grain

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new report about farmers cutting hog production this year could put further downward pressure on grain prices and stir more agitation among grain farmers for voluntary cutbacks in crop production.

But Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz says such talk about farmers voluntarily trimming acreages of corn, soybeans and other crops is "a lot of rhetoric" without factual substance.

The situation Friday was this: The Agriculture Department said March 1 surveys of farmers in 14 major hog states showed that producers have trimmed their breeding herds more sharply than indicated early last winter.

During the first three months of the hog marketing year, which began last Dec. 1, producers had 1.8 million sows give birth to litters, down 21 per cent from farrowings in December to February a year earlier, USDA said. Last December the department said a 14 per cent cut was indicated.

Similar hog production cutbacks were shown for the spring and summer months, meaning that pork output through all of 1975 will be down from last year more than previously expected.

The effect, although not mentioned in the USDA report, will be that less corn and other feed will be required by hog farmers than had been expected. Thus, more grain will be left on the market for other buyers, meaning prices will be additionally depressed.

Meantime, according to another March 1 survey of major crop producers, farmers have indicated they will plant enough acres to grain this spring to assure record corn and other feed crops if they get normal weather.

But grain prices have tumbled in recent months and some farmers, particularly in the Midwest, are seeking a grassroots movement to reduce plantings voluntarily so that market prices can be boosted by harvest in time later in the year.

Secretary Butz, an advocate of all-out production and minimum government control, says the talk of voluntary acreage reduction is not logical and that farmers who say such things secretly hope their neighbors will cut back so they can plant as much as they want.

"There is no economic incentive to cut back," Butz said Friday. "There are no government payments this year (for idling land) and the only incentive out there is to produce."

Butz also said he will urge that President Ford veto a House-approved farm bill calling for higher government support and target prices for key crops, a measure he says will lead to surplus production at taxpayer expense.

OK Cash For Health Projects

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state Department of Health approved more than $18 million worth of projects under the U.S. Social Security Act on Friday for improvements in 10 hospitals, medical centers and nursing homes.

The projects approved include: —$149,000 to St. Luke's Hospital, Cleveland, for replacement of radiology equipment.

—$400 to Gruter Foundation, Wooster, to convert rest home beds to intermediate care status.

—$167,000 to Holzer Medical Center, Gallipolis, for replacement of X-ray equipment.

—$124,000 to Ohio State University Hospital, Columbus, for purchase of a linear accelerator.

—$34,600 to Holzer Medical Center, Gallipolis, for purchase of mammography unit and leading of xeroradiography unit.

—$60,000 to Jewish Hospital, Cincinnati, for ultrasound equipment.

—$9.93 million to Huron Road Hospital, Cleveland, for new radiology lab and remodeling.

—$20,000 to Children's Hospital Medical Center, Cincinnati, for program of acute emergency dialysis.

—$5.2 million to Children's Medical Center, Dayton, for a long range plan.

—$439,000 to Brown County General Hospital, Georgetown, for redistribution of beds and other improvements.

—$1.63 million to Riverside Manor, Dayton, for nursing home.

Brush Fire Reported To Firemen

Circleville firemen dispatched at 10:40 p.m. Friday to 818 S. Pickaway St., after they received a call from the police department.

Firemen were alerted that Jim Sowers of that address was burning brush in his backyard.

The fire was extinguished with water and Sowers was warned against a repeat performance of the burning.

Lt. Mike Brown of the Fire Department said this morning that burning is against the state law except with a burning permit.

He said permits were very difficult to obtain since they are issued only after permission is granted by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Domestic Energy Output Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of Marathon Oil Co., Harold D. Hoopman, Friday urged Congress to adopt policies to foster development of domestic energy.

Appearing before a House subcommittee, Hoopman said programs authorized by the Emergency Allocation Act of 1973 could threaten permanent damages to the petroleum industry.

Mandatory allocations of petroleum products are destroying competition and preventing natural market forces from stimulating demand, he said.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q.) I know that benefits from company-financed supplemental unemployment fund are taxable. Are there other benefits that I may receive during a period of unemployment that would be taxable?

(A.) Yes, taxable benefits include: union benefits paid out of regular union dues to unemployed members of a union; guaranteed annual wage payments received from your employer during periods of unemployment; severance pay; lumpsum payment for cancellation of an employment contract; payments for services performed under a state welfare agency work relief program, and amounts you receive from a fund which are in excess of any contributions you previously made to the fund.

(Q.) I am trying hard to find a job; are there any expenses which I can deduct on my tax return?

(A.) Employment agency fees you pay to actually secure employment are deductible. (Fees paid for an unsuccessful job search are not deductible.) However, if your employer later reimburses you for these expenses, you must include reimbursement as gross income in the year received. Fees for physical examinations required by your new employer are deductible. Professional dues, union dues, etc., are also deductible.

(Q.) I know that state and local income taxes are deductible on my Federal return, but I'm confused. Do I deduct such taxes paid in 1973 or 1974 on my 1974 Federal return?

(A.) On your 1974 Federal return, you may deduct state and local taxes withheld from your paycheck in 1974. In addition, you may deduct on your 1974 Federal return any 1973 state and local taxes you paid in 1974. If you receive a refund of these taxes in a later year, include in your income for the year of such receipt that part of the refund that gave you a tax benefit in the earlier year. This would include refunds resulting from taxes that were overwithheld, miscalculated or recomputed as a result of an amended return.

(Q.) I'm considering selling a patent that I own. How can I determine the basis of the patent?

(A.) The basis of a patent (or a copyright) depends on how you acquired it. The basis of a patent you purchased is its cost. If you obtained your patent from the government, your original basis will include the cost of production and development, such as research and experimental expenditures, drawings, working models, attorney and governmental fees, etc. If the patent was developed in the course of your trade or business and you deducted the research and experimental expenses in the year they were incurred, you may not include them in the cost of the patent. The value of the time you spent on the invention or work covered by patent may not be included in its basis.

Carpentry Teacher Shot At High School

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Police said carpentry instructor Nick Suttles, 31, was shot Friday while teaching a class of 10 students at Patterson Cooperative High School.

Suttles, who was in fair condition at Miami Valley Hospital, was shot by an unknown assailant, police said.

Neff under the federally funded Title II Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

These employees will have specific assignments in the Welfare Department designed to assist with the processing of Food Stamp, Aid for Dependent Children, and Medicaid applications.

The local welfare department has been experiencing a significant increase in the number of requests for assistance in all categories.

Mrs. Hardman has lived in Pickaway County for the past 11 years. She graduated from the Laurelville High School where she was a member of the National Honor Society and attended Columbus Business University. She and her husband, Jim, have two sons, and live at Route 1, Laurelville.

Miss Woolever is a native of Pickaway County. She graduated from the Teays Valley High School where she was a member of the National Honor Society and attended Capital University. She lives on Route 1, Ashville, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Woolever.

Neff is a native of Pickaway County. He graduated from the Westfall High School where he played basketball and lettered in Cross Country. He is currently attending Franklin University night classes where he is majoring in Electronic Engineering. He lives on Route 2, Circleville, with his parents, Mrs. and Mrs. Hugh Neff.

The additional personnel has been made possible under Title II of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act. The Pickaway County Commissioners are the prime sponsors for these funds and have designated the Pickaway County Welfare Department as their agent to carry out this portion of the CETA II proposal.

One requirement of the program is that the employee has to be a referral from the District Employment Office in Chillicothe and reside in one of five designated townships within Pickaway County.

Y MEMBERSHIP DRIVE WEEK—William Lyle has been appointed chairman of the 1975 YMCA membership drive, according to Harold Hewitt, YMCA director. Slated to start today, the campaign will be responsible for: (1) renewing expired memberships, (2) broadening the base of financial support, (3) developing new sources of contributions and memberships. The first phase of the drive will be letters requesting renewals of all 1975 memberships. The second phase will be direct calls by the YMCA membership team. According to Lyle, the future plans for a new building and pool requires a strong base of membership and contributions now. The YMCA needs your help to be successful.

Y MEMBERSHIP DRIVE WEEK—William Lyle has been appointed chairman of the 1975 YMCA membership drive, according to Harold Hewitt, YMCA director. Slated to start today, the campaign will be responsible for; (1) renewing expired memberships, (2) broadening the base of financial support, (3) developing new sources of contributions and memberships. The first phase of the drive will be letters requesting renewals of all 1975 memberships. The second phase will be direct calls by the YMCA membership team. According to Lyle, the future plans for a new building and pool requires a strong base of membership and contributions now. The YMCA needs your help to be successful.

Becky Foreman Is Jaycees' Choice For Young Citizen

By JOYCE RITCHIE

Becky Foreman, a senior at TV, has been chosen by the Ashville Jaycees as the Outstanding Young Citizen. Becky resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Foreman of Route 1, Ashville.

Becky's activities include Girl Scouts, Foreign Exchange Student of 1974, Girl Scout trip to the Soviet Union in 1973, Girls' Interscholastic Basketball and Volleyball, Varsity "V" Club, Future Women's Club, member of the First English Lutheran Church, and Luther League. Becky maintains a grade average of 3.23.

The Jaycees selected Becky from a number of students nominated by their high school teachers. On March 15, Becky's name was sent to the state contest along with all the other district winners and was chosen as one of the five Most Outstanding Young Citizens of the state of Ohio.

On March 21-23, Becky will attend the Jaycees' Conference in Akron where she will receive her award.

BECKY FOREMAN

Graduation Plans Set

By ESTILL SALYERS

Seniors of Teays Valley High School have made all plans for their graduation ceremony on June 1 at 8 p.m. They have chosen dark blue gowns with a gold hood. A blue tipped carnation has been chosen as the class flower.

A quote from Henry David Thoreau, "Go confidently in the direction of your dreams," was chosen to be the motto for the graduating class.

Graduation speaker will be Tommy Bell, an NFL official.

Bell has spoken in such places as the British Isles, France, Germany, Mexico, and most of the United States.

He has worked at two NCAA basketball finals and was selected to be the referee in six championship games. He has also refereed two Super Bowl games.

He has received such awards as The Brotherhood Award, given by The National Conference of Christians and Jews; and the Outstanding Football Official Award, given by the Touch-down Club, Columbus.

This year's ceremony, as in past years, will be held in the gymnasium. Baccalaureate will begin at 2 p.m. and graduation at 8 p.m.

Miss Lawrence Places In Miss FBLA Contest

By LORI STEWART

On the morning of February 21, you could see five students and Mrs. Mona Welch with suitcases, paper, pens, erasers and very shakey knees. These girls were Kathy Lawrence, Teresa Nichols, Tammy Hanley, Debbie Murray and Lori Stewart, members of the FBLA.

They were headed for Toledo to a state competition in Shorthand I and II, Typing I and II, bookkeeping, and clerical work. All of these girls placed in the top three in the district meet which gave them the opportunity to go to the state.

Kathy Lawrence and Debbie Murray took the Shorthand II test. Teresa Nichols and Lori Stewart took Shorthand I. Tammy Hanley took Typing I. Teresa Nichols placed third in the state.

Kathy Lawrence got first runner-up in the Miss FBLA contest. Tammy Hanley placed third in Typing II.

All of these girls did a good job in representing Teays Valley. We are proud of them.

New Teacher Takes Over

By RON TERFLINGER

A new addition to the T.V. English Department teaching staff is Joseph Siriano, who is taking over for Mrs. Carolyn Veit. This is his first experience teaching high school students and he thinks it is an excellent opportunity.

Siriano graduated from Ohio State University. He now lives in Ashville with his wife, Jean, who teaches at Ashville Elementary. They have three sons, Rocky, Mike and Tony. His major outside interest is photography.

Siriano commented, "I think Teays Valley is an excellent facility, and I'm particularly impressed with the student body's concern for it. I must also comment on the student behavior here which I would have to rate as outstanding. All in all, it's a very nice school."

Drama Club To Present O'Neill Play

By DEBI LAWLESS

In early May, the Drama Club, under the direction of Mr. Kearns, will present "AH! Wilderness!," a four-act play by Eugene O'Neill.

The cast will be: Tammy, Chris Tussing; Mildred, Gale Warner; Arthur, Kevin Archer; Mrs. Miller, Teresa Nichols; Lily Miller, Karen Green; Nat Miller, David Warner;

Sid Davis, Nolan Hines; Richard, Ken Lyon; David McComber, Steve Gregory; Nora, Cindy Beattie; Wint, David Rainey; Belle, Julie Pabst; Bartender, Bob Pabst; Salesman, Wes Hedges.

The play is about a young boy's first love. Come see it!

Briley Quits As Regent

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The chairman of the Ohio Board of Regents, John Marshall Briley, has announced his resignation after serving 12 years on the controversial planning and coordinating body for higher education.

Briley, 70, leaves a board faced with a budget cut and uncertain of its future role in the face of Gov. James A. Rhodes' announced intention to cut back sharply on the range of its authority.

However, there was no indication that his departure, effective no later than April 15 was related to the board's problems.

Briley disclosed at the conclusion of the board's regular monthly meeting Friday that he had handed Rhodes a letter of resignation a few hours earlier because he was moving to Stamford, Conn. He said he had sold his farm in Wood County near Perrysburg.

Briley, a Republican, said he had told Rhodes, who appointed him as a charter member in 1963, that the board should continue to play an important role in higher education in the state.

Glenn Backs Majority

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, voted with the majority Friday as the Senate agreed 52-40 to table, thus kill, an amendment by Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., to eliminate $10 billion in tax rebates from the tax bill.

Opening Day At Beulah Signals Beginning Of A Busy Race Season

By STEVE JONES
Herald Editor

March 29, the opening day at Beulah Park, Grove City, signals the beginning of a busy Thoroughbred racing season for Hidden Spring Farm located on Route 22 four miles east of Circleville.

Carl C. Nowacki and his daughter Sandra have seven runners they have been prepping for the upcoming season. They have been stabled at Beulah Park since Feb. 15.

Sandra, or Sandy as she is called by everyone who knows her, has saddled more winners than her father can count in the few short years she has been his trainer.

Their stable at Beulah this year includes Man of Parts, Pip Pac, Lifter, Sandlot Slugger, Everybody's Talkin, Whipper Snapper, all owned by Hidden Spring Farm and Glory Bold, owned by L. J. Bennett of Columbus.

A retired automobile dealer and a trainer for about 18 years, Nowacki purchased Hidden Spring Farm and established his breeding and training operation here about two years ago.

The facilities include pastures with running water, turnout paddocks with plenty of shade, a 24-stall barn with 12 by 12 box stalls and an indoor arena which is 60 feet by 120 feet which is ideal for jogging no matter what the weather may be outside.

This spring he plans to build a "swimming pool" for the horses. This will be a 1/2 acre pond located just in front of the main barn.

Also being planned is a half-mile track on a 30-acre tract owned by his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill (Vicki) Atkinson. This is just across Greist Road from the main barns at Hidden Spring Farm.

Atkinson is a trainer at Darby Dan Farms and broke Proud Dollar, a Kentucky Derby eligible who was second at the Flamingo Stakes recently. The half-mile training track will be ready in another month.

After the meet is over at Beulah, the Nowackis will ship their horses to Chicago or Rockingham Park. They may also race at River Downs this summer.

The Nowackis campaign at the spring, summer and fall meets and then it's back to the farm for the winter for a well deserved rest for both the horses and the horsemen.

Nowacki has always owned horses but has been training only the past 18 years. He has been busier since his retirement from the automobile business than he was before. Sandy holds a degree in biological science and is a graduate of St. Mary's of the Spring College, Columbus. She has been training the past five years.

Cindy, another daughter, owns a quarterhorse, Pine's Cardinal, with which she has taken 55 trophies at shows around the state.

The best horse for Nowacki has been Hoist Sail, an 8-year-old Thoroughbred now standing at stud at Hidden Spring. Nowacki claimed him at Beulah for $2,500 as a 3-year-old and Hoist Sail went on to win more than $86,000 during his career, winning 15 races. He was retired to stud two years ago and in his first year successfully bred 22 mares. Last year he got 18 mares in foal. His first crop of colts will go to the track next year.

For a $2,500 claimer, Hoist Sail has impressive credentials. He was sired by Turn-To who was a stakes winner of $280,000. Retired to stud early, Turn To has since sired foals which have won close to $6 million in purses. His sons include:

Hail To Reason, America's No. 1 sire in 1970; First Landing, winner of $779,000 and sire of 17 stakes winners; Cyane, sire of 14 stakes winners; Sir Gaylord, Waltz, Captain's Gig, Best Turn, Flit-To, Dead Ahead, Favorable Turn, Up Spirits, Turn Right.

Turn-To has also been a strong brood mare sire and his daughters include Fast Turn, dam of the brilliant Ack-Ack; Swansea who brought $290,000 through the sales and Captain's Mate who brought $150,000 through the 1972 Fall Keeneland Sales.

Hoist Sail's dam is Rosaleen II who won the derby in Chile and was leading 3-year-old of her year. She is by Jardiniere, a stakes winner in England and leading sire of Chile in 1962.

Hoist Sail twice won the Ohio Championship Handicap at Beulah Park.

While Sandy is training the Thoroughbreds at the tracks, her father and his assistant, John Fetherolf, oversee the operations at Hidden Spring.

HOIST SALE—Carl Nowacki, owner of Hidden Spring Farm, shows his stud, Hoist Sail. Retired to stud two years ago, Hoist Sail was claimed by Nowacki as a three-year-old for $2,500 and went on to win $86,000 for his owner.

SD Sires Stakes Has Top Field

As expected, Scioto Downs is the leader in number of entries in the 1975 Ohio Sires Stakes Series. The unique colt stakes open only to colts and fillies, sired by a stallion standing in the state of Ohio, got off to a slow start in 1974, but promises to become one of the leading stakes programs in Ohio in 1975.

The February 15 closing date found 608 Ohio sired two- and three-year-old trotters and pacers nominated to the series. Of the 608 entries, 515 were nominated to Scioto Downs.

The Series begins at Scioto Downs on Friday, June 27, with an elimination division of the 3-year-old trot for an estimated purse of $10,000. Then the 3-year-old pacers go for an estimated purse of $12,000 on Friday, July 4, and the 2-year-old trotters on July 17 for $12,000. Scioto Downs will hold the 3-year-old trotting championship of the series on Thursday, August 21 for an estimated purse of $20,000.

In announcing the record entry to the Scioto Downs races in the Ohio Sires Stakes series, track president, Charles D. Hill stated, "we are very pleased with the entry in the entire Ohio Sires Stakes series. We have known for quite some time that Ohio is the leader in the breeding of harness horses, and now Ohio has a premier racing sires for Ohio-sired two and three year old trotters and pacers. The Ohio Sires Stakes Series will greatly compliment our fifteen-event stakes and early closing series when Scioto Downs begins the 1975 season on Friday, May 16."

The 1975 Super Bowl football game attracted 79,065 fans at Tulane Stadium in New Orleans. A total of 1,932 ticket holders failed to attend.

Stivers, Warsaw Clash In AA

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "If we don't win," said Dayton Stivers Coach Earl Johnson, "I'll eat this building."

Replied Walt Harrop, the coach of Warsaw River View, "That would be quite a mouthful."

The competing mentors were firing verbal shots of their own before Stivers (16-8) and River View (24-1) settled the Ohio Class AA high school basketball title today at Ohio State.

Stivers, the only school ever to win three straight state titles, was heavily favored to back Johnson's words, mainly because of Ohio Class AA Player of the Year Frankie Sanders and Eric Sutton.

Sanders accounted for 32 points, 12 rebounds and five assists in an 86-71 semifinal victory over Louisville Aquinas Friday. Sutton was worth 22 more points.

Johnson was confident on the eve of his final game of high school coaching. The 34-year-old former Alcorn A&M University star is returning to fulltime counseling work.

"I'm not underestimating River View," he insisted. "I just think we have too many keys to win the championship."

Joe Eaton, whose Louisville Aquinas team bowed out with a 16-9 record, agreed with Johnson.

"It will take some kind of defensive effort from River View to even stay in the championship game," said Eaton.

But Harrop, moments after River View ousted taller Rossford 56-52 in the semifinals, praised his team's defense.

"We won today with our footwork defense," said Harrop. "We just outpositioned them and put pressure on the ball."

An upset Rossford coach, Joe Stalma, ripped the officiating after his team bowed out with a 23-2 record.

"I have a practice of not criticizing officials," he said, "but today we saw some real weird calls. If I didn't say something about it, it would be like having a chicken bone stuck in my throat."

John Williams won the game at the foul line for the Black Bears from Coshocton County. The River View guard missed only two of 14 free throws and sank three in the last 30 seconds. He scored 24 points.

Scott Spencer, a burly 6-foot-7 junior, hit 25 points for Rossford, the 1966 and 1970 state tournament runnerup.

Stivers, the champion in 1924, 1928, 1929 and 1930, pumped in six straight points for an 18-10 lead. The Tigers, in their last season of existence, never trailed thereafter.

Rocco Morrow hit 15 points, Steve Barr 14 and Mike Repp 12 for the Knights.

Class AAA Showdown Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "It will be like looking in a mirror," said Columbus Linden-McKinley Coach Jene Davis, looking ahead to the Ohio Class AAA high school basketball title game with Cleveland Heights tonight.

Linden-McKinley's giant killers, once 3-6 this season, will pit their 17-8 record against a 24-1 mark carried by Cleveland Heights into the 7:30 showdown in St. John Arena.

The unrated Columbus school, 1967 Ohio champion, handed third-ranked Kettering Alter its first loss in 25 games 59-57 in the opening semifinal game Friday night.

Cleveland Heights, 14th ranked, in its first state tournament, followed with a 55-53 overtime verdict over No. 2 Canton McKinley, marred by postgame fisticuffs.

It was a bitterly fought struggle. Tempers flared between students from the competing schools and Ohio State University police in the McKinley student section afterward.

Several fights broke out, chairs were thrown and participants upset the teams' benches, the official scoring table and part of press row.

The police quickly cleared the arena and an OSU spokesman said, "Our primary concern was getting people out of the arena safely. There were no serious injuries. One officer hurt his thumb." There were no arrests.

Bob Rupert, the coach of McKinley, offered a terse "no comment" after the Bulldogs lost for the 14th time in the semifinals or finals without winning a single title.

It was a storybook finish for Heights. Substitute Rick Fishman's only basket of the game won it with 72 seconds to play in overtime. Fishman also came up with the final rebound after a missed McKinley shot with one second to go.

Jim Cappelletti, the Heights coach, hoisted a cheer for the tournament underdogs.

"I guess everyone felt that Linden-McKinley and our team didn't have any right to be in this tournament," he said. "We showed them."

"You'll see two similar teams in the championship. I'll bet you it's going to be some kind of game."

Lloyd Franklin sparked the Tigers' victory with 25 points. Reggie Hannah added 16 more.

McKinley sorely missed its Ohio Class AAA Player of the Year Phil Hubbard in the stretch. The 6-7½ senior fouled out with almost six minutes to play. He had only 12 points, 14 under his average.

Napoleon Allen, who scored 20 points, hit a basket with 17 seconds to play to furnish Linden-McKinley a 58-57 margin. Melvin Owens clinched the victory with a free throw with three seconds left.

Jim Paxson, an all-state guard-forward, was brilliant in defeat with 25 points.

Lady Dartmouth Wins

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Lady Dartmouth captured the $2,000 featured trot at Lebanon Raceway Friday night, out-distancing Speed Darnley by a half-length.

The victory paid $15.20, $6.40 and $5.20. Speed Darnley returned $3.40 and $4.00. The show horse, at $3.20, was Chief Dean.

Opening Day At Beulah Signals Beginning Of A Busy Race Season

By STEVE JONES
Herald Editor

March 29, the opening day at Beulah Park, Grove City, signals the beginning of a busy Thoroughbred racing season for Hidden Spring Farm located on Route 22 four miles east of Circleville.

Carl C. Nowacki and his daughter Sandra have seven runners they have been prepping for the upcoming season. They have been stabled at Beulah Park since Feb. 15.

Sandra, or Sandy as she is called by everyone who knows her, has saddled more winners than her father can count in the few short years she has been his trainer.

Their stable at Beulah this year includes Man of Parts, Pip Pac, Lifter, Sandlot Slugger, Everybody's Talkin, Whipper Snapper, all owned by Hidden Spring Farm and Glory Bold, owned by L. J. Bennett of Columbus.

A retired automobile dealer and a trainer for about 18 years, Nowacki purchased Hidden Spring Farm and established his breeding and training operation here about two years ago.

The facilities include pastures with running water, turnout paddocks with plenty of shade, a 24-stall barn with 12 by 12 box stalls and an indoor arena which is 60 feet by 120 feet which is ideal for jogging no matter what the weather may be outside.

This spring he plans to build a "swimming pool" for the horses. This will be a 7th acre pond located just in front of the main barn.

Also being planned is a half-mile track on a 30-acre tract owned by his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill (Vicki) Atkinson. This is just across Greist Road from the main barns at Hidden Spring Farm.

Atkinson is a trainer at Darby Dan Farms and broke Proud Dollar, a Kentucky Derby eligible who was second at the Flamingo Stakes recently. The half-mile training track will be ready in another month.

After the meet is over at Beulah, the Nowackis will ship their horses to Chicago or Rockingham Park. They may also race at River Downs this summer.

The Nowackis campaign at the spring, summer and fall meets and then it's back to the farm for the winter for a well deserved rest for both the horses and the horsemen.

Nowacki has always owned horses but has been training only the past 18 years. He has been busier since his retirement from the automobile business than he was before. Sandy holds a degree in biological science and is a graduate of St. Mary's of the Spring College, Columbus. She has been training the past five years.

Cindy, another daughter, owns a quarterhorse, Pine's Cardinal, with which she has taken 55 trophies at shows around the state.

The best horse for Nowacki has been Hoist Sail, an 8-year-old Thoroughbred now standing at stud at Hidden Spring. Nowacki claimed him at Beulah for $2,500 as a 3-year-old and Hoist Sail went on to win more than $86,000 during his career, winning 15 races. He was retired to stud two years ago and in his first year successfully bred 22 mares. Last year he got 18 mares in foal. His first crop of colts will go to the track next year.

For a $2,500 claimer, Hoist Sail has impressive credentials. He was sired by Turn-To who was a stakes winner of $280,000. Retired to stud early, Turn To has since sired foals which have won close to $6 million in purses. His sons include:

Hail To Reason, America's No. 1 sire in 1970; First Landing, winner of $779,000 and sire of 17 stakes winners; Cyane, sire of 14 stakes winners; Sir Gaylord, Waltz, Captain's Gig, Best Turn, Flit-To, Dead Ahead, Favorable Turn, Up Spirits, Turn Right.

Turn-To has also been a strong brood mare sire and his daughters include Fast Turn, dam of the brilliant Ack-Ack; Swanssea who brought $290,000 through the sales and Captain's Mate who brought $150,000 through the 1972 Fall Keeneland Sales.

Hoist Sail's dam is Rosaleen II who won the derby in Chile and was leading 3-year-old of her year. She is by Jardiniere, a stakes winner in England and leading sire of Chile in 1962.

Hoist Sail twice won the Ohio Championship Handicap at Beulah Park.

While Sandy is training the Thoroughbreds at the tracks, her father and his assistant, John Fetherolf, oversee the operations at Hidden Spring.

HOIST SALE—Carl Nowacki, owner of Hidden Spring Farm, shows his stud, Hoist Sail. Retired to stud two years ago, Hoist Sail was claimed by Nowacki as a three-year-old for $2,500 and went on to win $86,000 for his owner.

A CHAMPION—Hoist Sail twice won the Ohio Championship Handicap at Beulah Park. The photo above was taken in 1970 at the 25th reunion of the event. At the top of the

SD Sires Stakes Has Top Field

As expected, Scioto Downs is the leader in number of entries in the 1975 Ohio Sires Stakes Series. The unique colt stakes open only to colts and fillies, sired by a stallion standing in the state of Ohio, got off to a slow start in 1974, but promises to become one of the leading stakes programs in Ohio in 1975.

The February 15 closing date found 608 Ohio sired two- and three-year-old trotters and pacers nominated to the series. Of the 608 entries, 515 were nominated to Scioto Downs.

The Series begins at Scioto Downs on Friday, June 27, with an elimination division of the 3-year-old trot for an estimated purse of $10,000. Then the 3-year-old pacers go for an estimated purse of $12,000 on Friday, July 4, and the 2-year-old trotters on July 17 for $12,000. Scioto Downs will hold the 3-year-old trotting championship of the series on Thursday, August 21 for an estimated purse of $20,000.

In announcing the record entry to the Scioto Downs races in the Ohio Sires Stakes series, track president, Charles D. Hill stated, "we are very pleased with the entry in the entire Ohio Sires Stakes series. We have known for quite some time that Ohio is the leader in the breeding of harness horses, and now Ohio has a premier racing sires for Ohio-sired two and three year old trotters and pacers. The Ohio Sires Stakes Series will greatly compliment our fifteen-event stakes and early closing series when Scioto Downs begins the 1975 season on Friday, May 16."

The 1975 Super Bowl football game attracted 79,065 fans at Tulane Stadium in New Orleans. A total of 1,932 ticket holders failed to attend.

Stivers, Warsaw Clash In AA

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "If we don't win," said Dayton Stivers Coach Earl Johnson, "I'll eat this building."

In Memoriam

In memory of Tom Boyer Sr. who died March 23, 1974.

They are not lost who find the light of sun and stars and God.

REST IN PEACE

Til we meet again

Now my toil on earth is over
My mission has been fulfilled:
My footsteps now are silent,
My voice has been stilled.
The holy angels' called me softly.

Just before the evening tide;
Bore me cross the river,
Jordan,

Safely to the other side.
Where there's rest and peace,
There's no heartache nor pain;
I'll sleep in the arms of Jesus,
Until we meet again.

In Memoriam

In memory of Tom Boyer Sr. who died March 23, 1974. They are not lost who find the light of sun and stars and God.

REST IN PEACE

Til we meet again

Now my toil on earth is over
My mission has been fulfilled:
My footsteps now are silent,
My voice has been stilled.
The holy angels called me softly.
Just before the evening tide:
Bore me cross the river,
Jordan.
Safely to the other side.
Where there's rest and peace.
There's no heartache nor pain;
I'll sleep in the arms of Jesus.
Until we meet again.

Written by:
Tom Boyer Sr.

Sadly missed by Wife,
Children, and Grandchildren.

1. Card of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks to the many friends, neighbors and relatives for the cards, flowers, donations and food during the death of our husband and father. Also thanks to Pastor Zehner and Reverend Flowers for their comforting words. Thanks to the Harper Bible Class. Thanks to the Fraternal Order of Eagles for their fraternal service. Our special thanks to the Deffenbaugh Wise McCain Funeral Home and the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.
Mrs. Carroll Stonerock and family.

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to all my friends and neighbors for their cards and calls, to those who provided food and the Franciscan meals, and to those who have provided transportation during my illness.
Marvin G. Steely

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Neither fear to step into a new or changed picture, nor step in before you are ready. Know your ground sufficiently and the views of associates, too.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): What you think will be as important as how you act. Control emotions, shun pessimists and let your natural exuberance for living shine in the right corners.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A day in which you MUST avoid extremes: They will tempt in various forms. Be especially careful in social activities.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Neither expect nor demand too much and you will be surprised at your allover returns. Romance and travel highly favored.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A satisfactory day indicated, but the good will of others will be important. Stress your amiable side, therefore, and speak abruptly to no one.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Some complicated situations indicated. Be sure you have all facts before making decisions. Whether day is for recreation or you have strenuous tasks, be philosophical.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): One of your ideas which others might consider "visionary" seems to have solid foundation, so give it more thought and don't let others discourage you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): A day calling for flexibility. Don't adhere rigidly to a course when new developments definitely call for a change of policy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Your impulse to "get going" should be checked until associates are ready to join you. Forcing matters will only lead to dissension.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): With further thought, you now see possibilities to hitherto barren areas of achievement so, if you're in a mood to take a chance, go ahead. Success likely.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Good stellar influences. Especially favored: real estate interests, home improvements, family concerns and social activities.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You may not be in the best position to take action on a cherished project just now, but that needn't deter you from keeping your plans in mind.

YOU BORN TODAY:

Outstanding among your many fine characteristics are your courage, the ability to hurdle the greatest obstacles, your perseverance, determination and idealism. One of the most versatile of all Arians — and that is saying a lot — you have a wide range of careers from which to choose, but you would probably be happiest in the theater, in the law, politics, science or any medium of the art world. All of these fields would give you the opportunity to profit by your dynamic gift of showmanship, coupled with the aforementioned idealism. Your ambitions are lofty and, even from the humblest of beginnings, you can reach the pinnacle of success. You have a tremendous love of luxury and will sacrifice much in time and energy to acquire the things you crave. Be careful here, since they often prove disappointing once you have them. Birthdate of: J.C. Leyendecker, artist; Werner Von Braun, world-renowned rocket engineer; Joan Crawford, film star.

Violinists Play On Birthday

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Twenty-seven advanced violin students who study with Josef Gingold at Indiana University performed in unison at a concert here observing the centenary of the violinist and composer, Fritz Kreisler.

They played Kreisler's "Praeludium and Allegro." Prof. Gingold played the first violin part in a performance of Kreisler's only string quartet, composed in 1919, with Eva Janzer, cello, Yuval Yaron, second violin, and Chihiro Kudo, viola.

Part of a famous recording by Kreisler and Rachmaninoff of Schubert's "Duo in A Major" was played. The rest of the program was devoted to solo performances of best-loved Kreisler pieces, including "Caprice Viennois," "La Gitana," "Recitativo and Scherzo Caprice" and "Tambourin Chinois."

Kreisler, who died in 1962, was born Feb. 2, 1875, in Vienna. He became famous as a child and later was one of the most popular artists who has ever lived.

The best time to snorkel in Jamaica is summer, when the sea is flat and calm and visibility often exceeds 100 feet.

About 4,000 years ago the Chinese learned how to unravel silkworm cocoons and weave the silk into cloth.

Helicopter Is Moving Van

ROOSTER ROCK STATE PARK, Ore. (AP) — Three years ago a federal ruling said there would be no further use for a 30-ton steel fabricated building atop a hill in Rooster Rock Park as a relay station for broadcasts to boats on the Columbia River. It was to be sent to Corvallis, Ore., for other use. That presented a problem for a moment only. Pacific Bell Telephone Co. brought in a helicopter which lifted it up 100 feet, carried it two miles over hills without damaging trees and then deposited it gently on a trailer waiting alongside the Columbia River in the park.

Helicopter Is Moving Van

ROOSTER ROCK STATE PARK, Ore. (AP) — Three years ago a federal ruling said there would be no further use for a 30-ton steel fabricated building atop a hill in Rooster Rock Park as a relay station for broadcasts to boats on the Columbia River. It was to be sent to Corvallis, Ore., for other use. That presented a problem for a moment only. Pacific Bell Telephone Co. brought in a helicopter which lifted it up 100 feet, carried it two miles over hills without damaging trees and then deposited it gently on a trailer waiting alongside the Columbia River in the park.

Boys Charged With Theft And Aggravated Burglary

Among the cases heard this past week in juvenile court were charges of aggravated burglary and grand theft against two 16-year-old Harrisburg boys. Both boys pleaded guilty to the charges at their arraignments and appeared before the court for sentencing on the delinquent charges.

The court suspended an original sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission in both cases and placed each boy on probation for three years. The boys were also ordered to make restitution for the damages they did and to pay the court costs.

Also appearing during the week were four boys charged with traffic offenses.

Terry Ray Stevens, 17, Route 1, Williamsport, was charged with failure to obey a traffic signal. He was fined $10 which was suspended. The court also suspended Stevens' license for one month but allowed his license to be returned to drive to school and traffic school during the period of suspension.

A 17-year-old Route 1, Williamsport boy appeared on a charge of having an open container which was transferred here from Madison County. The court ordered him to pay a $25 fine and the court costs.

Charges of disobeying a traffic signal were transferred here last week from Franklin County against a 17-year-old Route 2, Orient boy. Both the $10 fine and the court costs were suspended.

Donald Burgoon, 17, Route 1, Ashville, appeared before the court for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead. A fine of $10 was suspended and the court suspended Burgoon's license for one month with driving privileges restored for driving to work on the farm and for school. He was also ordered to attend traffic school.

The court granted consent for a 16-year-old boy to marry a 15-year-old girl.

In other action, the court transferred two speeding cases to Franklin County, the home county of the defendants.

A 16-year-old Route 1, Orient boy was released from probation. He had originally been charged with school truancy.

Storm Hits West Coast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wet and windy spring storm churned into the northern Rockies today after dumping rain along the Pacific Coast and heavy snow inland.

Gale warnings flew along the Washington, Oregon and northern California coasts. Dangerous surf pounded coastal areas Friday night.

More than an inch of rain soaked San Francisco through Friday, and up to 13 inches of snow piled onto Mt. Shasta in northern California; three inches of snow fell on Reno, Nev.; 2 inches dusted Spokane, Wash., and 5 inches blanketed Owyhee, Nev.

Heavy-snow warnings were out for the Oregon Cascades and the Sierra Nevada in California. Travelers were advised also of blowing snow in the northern Rockies and southern Plateau, and that blowing dust and sand could be expected in Southwestern desert areas.

The National Weather Service said the heavy rains in northern California could bring the upper end of the Sacramento River and the Russian River out of their banks today.

Rain also splattered into the mid-continent, where unseasonably warm weather erupted into thunderstorms during the night from Wisconsin to Tennessee. Hailstones the size of golf balls rattled into Rock City, in northwestern Illinois, late Friday.

Man Crashes Car While Fleeing Local Police

Willard D. Culwell, 26, Laurelvile, was admitted to University Hospital for injuries he suffered in a one-car accident on Route 56 when he lost control of his vehicle while allegedly attempting to elude Circleville Police.

He was treated initially at Berger Hospital for contusions and abrasions and massive head injuries suffered in the accident near the William Kellstadt home. He was pinned in the vehicle.

Circleville Police Sgt. Jerry Smallwood and Ptl. Ken Henn were patrolling the area of E. Main St. at the Pickaway St. intersection when they spotted Culwell driving east on Main at a high rate of speed.

The officers clocked his rate of travel at 52 miles an hour and noticed the car weaving over the two lanes.

The officers allegedly attempted to stop Culwell at the alley beside Browns Office Equipment, 459 E. Main St., by using the red light on their cruiser.

But, according to the report, Culwell maneuvered his car through the alley at a high rate of speed and went east on Franklin St. The officers activated the siren on their cruiser while giving chase and radioed headquarters for assistance.

The Culwell car allegedly drove through stop signs at Franklin and Mingo Sts. and Franklin and Main Sts. before heading out of town on Route 56.

Sgt. Smallwood said he clocked the car from the railroad crossing on Main St. to the city limits in excess of 90 miles an hour and on Route 56 in excess of 100.

Culwell apparently lost control of his vehicle after cresting the Earnhart Hill on Route 56.

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff James Fite said the car went left of center and drove off the left side of Route 56 through a ditch and into a wooded area where it crashed into a tree.

Culwell was trapped in the vehicle for 15 minutes before rescue workers could remove him.

Circleville Police charged him with driving while intoxicated, reckless operation, and fleeing police.

Additional charges by the Sheriff's Department are pending.

Hunt Patty In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The FBI says several agents are "working full time" in Cleveland trying to track down Patricia Hearst "because of numerous phone calls."

Frederick Fehl, special agent in charge of the FBI's Cleveland office, said the search of a house in suburban North Royalton at 1:30 a.m. Friday was just "one facet of the continuing investigation," and no evidence has been found that Miss Hearst actually was in the Cleveland area.

Gary J. Goldstein, 28, said he was surprised when two FBI agents and eight North Royalton policemen came and searched his house in the wee hours Friday.

The agents apparently were acting on an anonymous tip that a female hitchhiker picked up by Goldstein near Altoona, Pa., Wednesday night resembled Miss Hearst.

"They were here and looked around and showed me some pictures of Patty Hearst," Goldstein said. "I told them the picture was similar to the girl I had picked up . . . in a coffee shop on I-80 . . ."

the car weaving over the two lanes.

The officers allegedly attempted to stop Culwell at the alley beside Browns Office Equipment, 459 E. Main St., by using the red light on their cruiser.

But, according to the report, Culwell maneuvered his car through the alley at a high rate of speed and went east on Franklin St. The officers activated the siren on their cruiser while giving chase and radioed headquarters for assistance.

The Culwell car allegedly drove through stop signs at Franklin and Mingo Sts. and Franklin and Main Sts. before heading out of town on Route 56.

Sgt. Smallwood said he clocked the car from the railroad crossing on Main St. to the city limits in excess of 90 miles an hour and on Route 56 in excess of 100.

Culwell apparently lost control of his vehicle after cresting the Earnhart Hill on Route 56.

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff James Fite said the car went left of center and drove off the left side of Route 56 through a ditch and into a wooded area where it crashed into a tree.

Culwell was trapped in the vehicle for 15 minutes before rescue workers could remove him.

Circleville Police charged him with driving while intoxicated, reckless operation, and fleeing police.

Additional charges by the Sheriff's Department are pending.

Hunt Patty In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The FBI says several agents are "working full time" in Cleveland trying to track down Patricia Hearst "because of numerous phone calls."

Frederick Fehl, special agent in charge of the FBI's Cleveland office, said the search of a house in suburban North Royalton at 1:30 a.m. Friday was just "one facet of the continuing investigation," and no evidence has been found that Miss Hearst actually was in the Cleveland area.

Gary J. Goldstein, 28, said he was surprised when two FBI agents and eight North Royalton policemen came and searched his house in the wee hours Friday.

The agents apparently were acting on an anonymous tip that a female hitchhiker picked up by Goldstein near Altoona, Pa., Wednesday night resembled Miss Hearst.
